RBI holds rates steady; sees fiscal recovery taking root

The monetary policy committee kept the repo rate at 4.0 per cent, while the reverse repo rate stayed at 3.35 per cent

AGENCIES

Mumbai, Oct 9: (PTI) The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) left key interest rates unchanged Friday but signalled more easing ahead to support an economy that it sees contracting 9.5 per cent in the current fiscal.

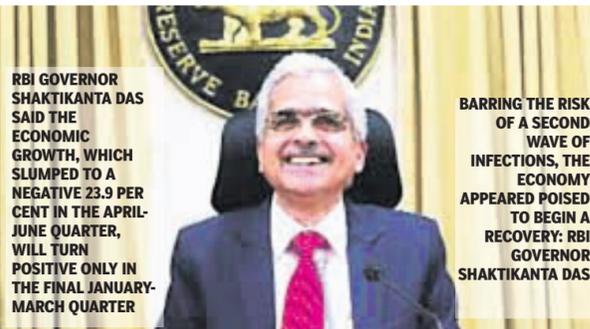

The six-member Monetary Policy Committee, with three newly inducted external members, voted unanimously to retain the benchmark repurchase or repo rate at 4 per cent while keeping its policy stance accommodative, implying it could ease again.

The central bank had slashed the repo rate by 115 basis points since late March before hitting a pause button in August. To bring down borrowing cost, RBI announced a number of unconventional steps, including doubling of the size of open-market bond purchases to ₹20,000 crore, offer to buy state debt, and easing a corporate cash crunch through a ₹1 lakh crore of targeted long-term funds available on tap.

Besides supporting economic activity, the measures are aimed at ensuring the government's record borrowing programme goes through smoothly.

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said the economic growth, which slumped to a negative 23.9 per cent in the April-June quarter, will turn positive only in the final January-March quarter.

"By all indications, the deep contractions of Q1 2020-21 (April-June) are behind us; silver linings are visible in the flattening of the active caseload curve across the country," he said.

Barring the risk of a second wave of infections, the economy appeared poised to begin a recovery, he said, noting food grain production was set for record highs and factories and cities were coming back to life. With macro indicators pointing to a recovery, "GDP growth may break out of contraction and turn positive by Q4 (January-March)," he said.

"For the year 2020-21 as a whole, therefore, real GDP is expected to decline by 9.5 per cent, with risks tilted to the downside," he said, adding that if the current momentum of upturn gains ground, a faster and stronger rebound is eminently feasible.

After the sharp contraction in Q1 of FY21, the MPC expects growth to come in at (-)9.8 per cent in Q2, (-)5.6 per cent in Q3 and 0.5 per cent in Q4. "Against all odds, we shall strive and revive," he said. In a video live stream, he said RBI will "continue with the accommodative stance of monetary policy as long as necessary - at least during the current financial year and into the next year - to revive growth on a durable basis and mitigate the impact of COVID-19, while ensuring that inflation remains within the target going forward".

The governor noted that the recent pick-up in inflation is due to supply disruption and higher markups during the lockdown. Going forward, as supply chains are restored, inflation could ease to 4.5-5.4 per cent in the second half of FY21. RBI's optimism on the inflation front is based on easing of supply-side disruption, weak demand conditions and bumper Kharif harvest as it expects the retail inflation to decline to 4.3 per cent in the first quarter of FY22.

India test fires anti-radiation missile Rudram-1

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Oct 9: In a major milestone, India on Friday successfully test fired a new generation anti-radiation missile from a Su-30 MKI fighter aircraft of the Indian Air Force that can destroy a wide variety of enemy radars, air defence systems and communication networks from large stand-off ranges, officials said.

The missile, Rudram-1, is India's first indigenously developed anti-radiation weapon system and it was test-fired by the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO), at an integrated test range in Balasore in Odisha at around 10:30 AM, officials said. They said the missile, having a speed of Mach two or twice the speed of sound, is capable of bringing down a wide-range of enemy radar systems, communication networks and air defence systems within a range of up to 250 kilometres.

In a statement, the Defence Ministry said Rudram hit the radiation target with "pin-point accuracy" and that the test established India's capability to develop long range air launched anti-radiation missiles.

The flight testing of the missile comes in the midst of India's bitter border row with China in eastern Ladakh.

Servitors advise against reopening Srimandir now

POST NEWS NETWORK

Puri, Oct 9: At least four servitor groups (Niyog) of Srimandir Friday advised the Shree Jagannath Temple Administration (SJTA) not to reopen the 12th century shrine for devotees amid the prevailing situation.

The members of Pratihari, Pujapanda, Suar-Mahasuar and Khuntia Niyogs of Srimandir put forth their suggestions against reopening of the shrine at a virtual meeting with the SJTA chief administrator Krishan Kumar Friday, sources said.

The SJTA chief also consulted five servitor members of Shree Jagannath Temple Managing Committee on the issue. The temple administration has initiated consulting servitors for reopening Srimandir after the state government began the process to allow people to visit religious places with strict adherence to the Covid-19 guidelines. The SJTA chief would consult the remaining Niyogs of Srimandir from October 12 to 16 before taking a financial decision on the issue, sources said.

According to sources, the Pujapanda, Suar-Mahasuar, Pratihari and Khuntia servitors suggested that the 12th century shrine should not be reopened for devotees till an effective vaccine is available for novel coronavirus.

The servitors argued that the cases of Covid-19 infection will rise manifold if the doors of Srimandir are reopened for the people amid the prevailing situation. "Rise in Covid-19 infection among the servitors would affect the performance of rituals at Srimandir," they pleaded.

The servitors also urged the devotees to co-operate the temple authorities on the issue.

They also urged the SJTA to take step for providing special care to their colleagues who have tested positive for the deadly virus. Moreover, the servitors also pleaded for a hike in the financial assistance provided to them by the SJTA to compensate the temple shutdown.

Srimandir managing committee member and senior servitor Ram Chandra Dasmahapatra said more than 500 servitors have tested positive for Covid-19, while 18 have died due to the virus infection.

"The state government can reopen other temples for devotees. But, Srimandir should not be reopened for devotees till the end of Hindu month of Kartika," Dasmahapatra added.

SJTA administrator (rituals) Jitendra Kumar Sahu said they will seek the views of all Niyogs of Srimandir on the issue. "The views of all servitor groups would be placed before the Srimandir managing committee before taking any final decision on the temple reopening," he added.

Notably, a few servitors had staged a dharna in front of the shrine a couple of days ago seeking the reopening of Srimandir for devotees.

India gets 2nd set of Swiss bank a/c details

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi/Berne, Oct 9: India has got the second set of Swiss bank account details of its nationals and entities under the automatic exchange of information pact with Switzerland, marking a key milestone in the government's fight against black money allegedly stashed abroad.

India is among the 86 countries with which Switzerland's Federal Tax Administration (FTA) has exchanged information on financial accounts within the framework of global standards on AEOI this year.

India had received the first set of details from Switzerland in September 2019 under AEOI (Automatic Exchange of Information), when it involved 75 countries.

The information exchange this year involved nearly 3.1 million (31 lakh) financial accounts, FTA said in a statement Friday. The number of such accounts was similar in 2019. While the statement did not explicitly name India among the 86 countries, officials told this news agency that India is among the prominent countries with which Switzerland has shared details about financial accounts of clients of Swiss banks and various other financial institutions.

The officials further said a "sizeable number" relates to Indian citizens and entities in the overall exchange of information about over three million financial accounts by Switzerland this year with 86 countries.

Besides, Swiss authorities have already shared information about more than 100 Indian citizens and entities in the past one year on receipt of requests for administrative assistance in cases involving probes into financial wrongdoings including tax evasion, the officials added.

These cases mostly relate to older accounts that might have been closed before 2018, for which Switzerland has shared details.

Nobel Peace Prize awarded to World Food Programme

THE WORLD FOOD PROGRAMME WAS HONOURED FOR ITS EFFORTS TO COMBAT HUNGER AND IMPROVE CONDITIONS FOR PEACE IN CONFLICT AREAS

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

Oslo, Oct 9: The Nobel Peace Prize was Friday awarded to the World Food Programme for feeding millions of people from Yemen to North Korea, with the coronavirus pandemic seen pushing millions more into hunger.

The WFP was honoured for "its efforts to combat hunger, for its contribution to bettering conditions for peace in conflict-affected areas and for acting as a driving force in efforts to prevent the use of hunger as a weapon of war and conflict." Nobel committee chairwoman Berit Reiss-Andersen said on unveiling the winner in Oslo.

Whether delivering food by helicopter or on the back of an elephant or a camel, the WFP prides itself on being "the leading humanitarian organisation" in a world where, by its own estimates, some 690 million people - one in 11 - go to bed on an empty stomach. "With this year's award, the

Norwegian Nobel Committee wishes to turn the eyes of the world towards the millions of people who suffer from or face the threat of hunger," Reiss-Andersen said.

Founded in 1961, the UN organisation helped 97 million people last year, distributing 15 billion rations to people in 88 countries last year. The numbers are dizzying but only a fraction of the total number in need.

Despite making progress over the past three decades, the UN's goal to eradicate hunger by 2030 appears out of reach if current trends continue, according to experts. Women and children are usually those most at risk.

War can be caused by hunger, but hunger is also a consequence of war, with people living in areas of conflict three times more likely to be undernourished than those living in countries at peace, the WFP says.

"There's no two ways about it - we can't end hunger unless we put an end to conflict," WFP executive director David Beasley said

September 21.

This is the 12th time the Peace Prize has gone to the UN, one of its agencies or personalities - more than any other laureate.

The virus will also affect the Nobel Peace Prize ceremony on December 10 in Oslo, which has been scaled back due to corona restrictions.

The award consists of a gold medal, a diploma and a cheque for 10 million Swedish kronor (950,000 euros, $1.1 million).

Common entrance test for PG courses from October 12

PNN & AGENCIES

Bhubaneswar, Oct 9: The state government is going to conduct a Common Entrance Test (CPET) through Students Academic Management System (SAMS) from October 12 this year for admissions to 68 state public universities and colleges having PG courses.

Official sources said that the main objective of the initiative is to alleviate the hardship of students, particularly of those residing in remote areas.

The CPET provides a single-window system for applying and appearing at one entrance test, thereby saving the students from the inconvenience of appearing in multiple entrance tests conducted by multiple institutes at multiple places and on multiple dates. It also saves a lot of money of students as they do not have to pay application fees to multiple institutes, nor do they have to incur expenses to travel to multiple places.

It also eliminates the problem of clash of dates which was, otherwise, forcing the students to appear in one test and forego others in spite of paying the fees. CPET will also lead to ease, convenience and transparency in PG admissions of these 68 uni-

Universities and colleges of the state.

A common subject-wise rank list will be prepared and the applicants will be admitted into the universities/ colleges and PG subjects of their choice on the basis of their rank and the reservation policy/weightage policy of the concerned institution. Every year, CPET will be conducted by one university, to be selected on rotation basis. This year it is being conducted by Utkal University.

The CPET-2020 will be held from October 12 to 22 at 26 centres, located in state universities and autonomous colleges. About 62,189 students will face the test for admissions into 83 PG subjects for about 14,700 PG seats.

The examination will be for 90 minutes consisting of 70 multiple choice questions in OMR sheet. A few model questions have been uploaded for information of students. Students have the option of applying for admission in multiple subjects and also giving their preference regarding university/college where they would like to be admitted.

The state-wide merit list will be prepared by giving 70 per cent weightage to the performance in entrance test and 30 per cent weightage to career from Class X onwards. Merit list will be published in about two-three weeks time.

The examinations will be conducted in three sittings every day. The schedule and guidelines have been published in SAMS website. Admit cards can be downloaded by students who have filled up the common admission form.

SMSes are being sent to all students regarding common queries. There will be one-hour gap between sittings. All Covid-19 guidelines will be adhered to including sanitisation, social distancing. Higher Education Secretary Saswat Mishra, “Special arrangements will be made for Covid-19 examinees to attend the entrance. They can appear in the examination in isolation rooms.”

Care has been taken to see that students who have applied in multiple subjects have no overlap in examination timings.

A purported video of the event Thursday showed Sarangi surrounded by a large number of women not wearing face masks or maintaining adequate social distance, mandatory to contain the spread of the virus. They were also seen singing and dancing at the programme. Minister of State for Home Dibya Shankar Mishra in a letter to the Union Minister of State, Home Affairs, Nityananda Rai, said that

Bhubaneswar MP Aparajita Sarangi at the birthday celebration

Sarangi had flouted Covid-19 prevention protocols while celebrating the occasion.

He attached the video clip with the mail.

“I am sure that your office will bring this to the notice of the Prime Minister and the Union Home Minister and advise the MP not to endanger the lives of the people of Bhubaneswar,” he said.

Rejecting the allegation, the bureaucrat-turned-MP, told PTI, “There has been no violation of Covid-19 norms.”

“I would not have brought this to your notice, had this been the first occasion where the MP has blatantly violated Covid-19 guidelines,” Mishra mentioned in the letter.

Repeated advisories, warnings and booking of at least three cases against the MP for disobeying Covid-19 prevention protocols have failed to bring any improvement in her behaviour, the minister said.

“These irresponsible acts will put her people near to her, and the public at grave risk. Such irresponsible behaviour on the part of a people’s representative will demotivate Covid warriors and is an insult to all those who have lost their lives,” he said.

As the national spokesperson of the BJP it is important that “her conduct inspires people to follow Covid-19 guidelines at this very critical juncture,” Mishra said.

The letter also mentioned that as many as 109 people have succumbed to the infection and five frontline workers have died in the fight against COVID-19 in Bhubaneswar alone.

“In this backdrop, the MP celebrating her birthday in disregard of Covid-19 guidelines makes a complete mockery of the struggles and sufferings that ordinary people are going through,” the minister said.

Cong failed to market itself: A Chellakumar

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Oct 9: The newly-appointed Congress in-charge of Odisha A Chellakumar, Friday, said that the party has failed to market its achievements which led to the drubbing in the last election in the state.

Addressing a presser here, the Congress Parliamentarian said, “Somewhere we were not able to properly market our achievements. On the marketing sector, we are very weak. We will rectify our mistakes.” He also said, “We will talk to the people. Wrong impressions have been created about the party.”

This was Chellakumar’s maiden visit and presser in Odisha after being appointed as Odisha in-charge. When the leader was asked whether he or the high command has planned any change of guard in Odisha Congress, he reply was negative.

“I have come here to strengthen the party. By changing a person alone cannot change the whole system. This is a wrong notion. We will correct our mistakes. We will bring a united face. I hope thereafter the picture will change in the party,” he said.

He set a target of one month to fill the vacancies of different positions in the party across the state. The Lok Sabha MP also accused the BJP-ruled state of not doing well on development, industrial progress, irrigation growth and law and order fronts.

“During the Congress regime, we had established eight sugar industries in the state to support the farmers. Now, only 2/3 sugar industries are there. Odisha has now become one of the worst states with criminal records. Crimes are rising in the state but nobody is bothered,” he said.

He also added, “Dishonest bureaucrats have taken over the governance in the state. In Odisha, there is mockery of democracy. No public representatives in the state get access to Chief Minister. This is the saddest part of administration in Odisha.”

Manibhadra Puturia dam project faces land hurdle

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nayagarh, Oct 9: Manibhadra Puturia dam project was proposed in Nayagarh with an aim to control flood and facilitating irrigation in 2009. But the fate of this dam project has been stuck in land hurdle since 2011. People in riparian pockets of the Mahanadi and Brutanga villages have been suffering flood devastation every year.

Locals are unsure of the fate of the project and alleged the project has been pushed into cold storage since 2011 due to bottlenecks in land acquisition and shortage of funds. Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik had laid the foundation of the project January 2, 2009. The dam project was planned for a length of 14 km from Manibhadra hill (under Gania block) to Puturia village in Kishoreprasad panchayat.

Locals said, "Had the project been executed, several panchayats like Kishoreprasad, Gania, Belapada, Rasang, Chhamudia and Badasilinga would have been protected against devastating floods every year." They lamented that a plaque set up during the foundation laying ceremony always reminds them of the project.

Owing to floods from the Mahanadi and Brutanga rivers, people in scores of villages in Rasanga, Chhudia and Badasilinga panchayats have to face unprecedented miseries as they remain cut off from the rest of the world for days together. Crops are completely damaged. People have long been demanding a dam to control floods in the area.

After repeated agitations by local people, construction work of the dam project started. Work over an 8-km stretch of the dam has been completed while the remaining part of the project has been abandoned as the land acquisition faced much trouble. It could not be carried forward, they lamented.

As for the ill-fated project, executive engineer of the Nayagarh water resources division Rajendra Kumar Mishra and assistant executive engineer of the Dasapalla water resources division Rabindranath Sethi said the work of the ambitious project was actually started in 2008 and was to be completed in 2013.

"Locals agreed to spare their land for the project, but later some people did not cooperate in this issue. The land acquisition could not be carried forward. By this time, the timeline of the project funded by NABARD had expired. The work could not be completed," they added.

They also pointed out, "In this condition, we are often told about resumption of the project work, but the main problem is shortage of funds. If land is acquired, the project work will be resumed easily. The department has apprised the government about the situation and further funds."

Group clash leaves 20 people injured

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nabarangpur, Oct 9: Twenty people including a forest guard were seriously injured Friday morning in a clash between two groups over use of forest land in Ghadadhanua village under Kosagumuda block in Nabarangpur district.

Sources said, forest officials had called residents of different villages under Kosagumuda block in the district to Ghadadhanua village. They wanted to conduct a meeting in order to allocate forest land equally among the villagers. The discussions turned ugly when an altercation started among the villagers regarding the distribution. Then the arguments snowballed into a violent clash.

It should be stated here that the forest department has launched an afforestation programme in 27 acres of reserve forest land near Ghadadhanua, Kadabhata, Janiguda, Dangariguda, Kakadaguda and Dhadadhanua villages. It has asked the residents of these villages to use forest produces from the area marked for afforestation. However, the villagers have been at loggerheads with each other over the use of land.

To solve the problem, officials of the forest department had called for a meeting. But they did not expect what followed. The villagers pelted stones and used sticks as they clashed. People were mercilessly beaten up. The violent villagers also attacked the forest guards present at the spot. While most of the forest department personnel fled the spot, one guard could not do so. He sustained serious injuries. He along with 19 other injured villagers was admitted to the district headquarters hospital for treatment.

The forest department later registered two separate FIRs against the villagers at the police station.

Save 'Ammakund' from stone mafia, say locals

POST NEWS NETWORK

Malkangiri, Oct 9: Residents of this district have demanded that Ammakund be protected as a tourist destination. Ammakund is located under Khairapat block in Malkangiri district. A large number of people participated in a rally Thursday evening to voice their demands. They staged a protest after coming to know that an Andhra Pradesh-based company has applied for lease to extract stone from the quarry situated near Ammakund.

Residents of seven panchayats participated in the protest rally. They have submitted a memorandum to the local tehsildar to restrain the company or any other entity from extracting stone from sites near Ammakund. People of this tribal dominated district mostly depend on forest produces for their livelihood. The mining area spreads over 600 acres and if allowed, it will affect the eco-tourism spot, some villagers alleged.

Ammakund is rich with natural beauties and water bodies. Tourists from several parts of Odisha and outside through this place for picnic and sightseeing, round the year. If allowed, mining activities will take place on a hill which is situated one kilometre away from Majhiguda village while Ammakund under Mudulipada panchayat is situated about 3.5km from the hill, locals said.

Sambalpur's ODF tag a misnomer

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur, Oct 9: Sambalpur district was declared open defecation free after it achieved 100 per cent toilet coverage under Swachh Bharat Mission, according to official data. The ground reality, however, tells a different story. About 90 per cent of the toilets have allegedly become unfit for use, defeating the purpose of the Swachh Bharat scheme.

Talajharan village under Jujumura block can be taken as a case in point. This village was declared open defecation free (ODF) December 31, 2018. On this occasion, the administration had organised a function attended by government officers and members of NGOs. It was then a prestige issue to get the ODF tag. As things stand, it would be a complete misnomer to call this village as an ODF village. A visit to this village will make one believe why it can no longer be an ODF village.

One or two families in the village are presently using toilets. And the rest have no choice but to go either to farmlands or pond banks to relieve themselves.

The villagers alleged that the announcement was nothing but a gimmick of politicians. The masons engaged to construct the toilets were from outside the state. "Neither they nor the administrative officials responded to our queries regarding the design of toilets. They instead would scold us, saying our names would be struck off the list. We were then given a sum of Rs 12,000 each to get our toilets constructed. We were then told that we can invest more to get a toilet of their choice," a villager said.

SWACHH BHARAT IN MESS

"Due to substandard construction work, all the toilets developed cracks and subsequently caved in, making them unfit for use. Those who got their toilets repaired are using the ones and there are hardly one or two such families. As we were not aware of the scheme, we were duped," they rued.

Rural water supply and sanitation (RWSS) executive engineer B Routray was evasive. "Earlier, the RWSS department was entrusted with the scheme. At that time, almost all the toilets were completed. As of now, district rural development department (DRDA) is carrying out the scheme," he said.

Notably, the scheme was launched in the district in financial year of 2013-14. In the first year, only two toilets were constructed. Later, a target for 5,371; 37,111; 51,361; 20,303 and 37,825 toilets was fixed for 2014-15, 2015-16, 2016-17, 2017-18 and 2018-19 financial years respectively. And the department informed that the set targets were achieved.

If the department sources are to go by, then as of now, only 250 toilets are under construction.

Man killed, body burnt in Malkangiri

POST NEWS NETWORK

Malkangiri, Oct 9: In a possible sorcery-related killing, some persons murdered a man at the virtually inaccessible Udayagiri village of Padia block on the border of Malkangiri district Thursday night. In their bid to destroy proof, the miscreants burnt the body of the deceased at the village cremation ground.

The deceased has been identified as Baga Kabasi, a resident of Udayagiri village of Kaladapali panchayat. According to sources, some villagers were of the opinion that Kabasi was into sorcery and black magic. They witnessed Kabasi performing some acts Thursday night. Those acts enhanced their belief that Kabasi was indeed a black magic practitioner.

The villagers called Kabasi out of his house and took him to a remote place where they murdered him in cold blood. They then cremated the body.

Transfer travails

Frequent transfer is a fait accompli in government. But Pimpri-Chinchwad police commissioner Sandeep Bishnoi, who was recently transferred, has approached the Central Administrative Tribunal (CAT) challenging his transfer order. He was moved out from his post in less than a year. He has been succeeded by Krishna Prakash, a 1998-batch IPS officer. Bishnoi has stated that “such abrupt transfers without justification or valid reason is contrary to law and ought to be set aside.” Bishnoi and Prakash are part of a major reshuffle carried out by the Maharashtra government in which around 50 officials were transferred. Prakash is the third police commissioner of Pimpri-Chinchwad in two years after the state government established the commissionerate in the industrial town, as law and order became a challenge following a rise in the number of street crimes and cases of vandalism. Bishnoi’s predecessor, senior IPS officer RK Padmanabhan, too was transferred before completing two years in office.

RBI PICKS MPC MEMBERS

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) had to postpone its much-awaited monetary policy review in the last week of September due to the lack of quorum. The delayed nomination of three government external members to its six-member Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) had led to the unprecedented postponement. Now the RBI has appointed Ashima Goyal, Jayanth R Varma and Shashanka Bhide as MPC members for a period of four years. The MPC is a statutory committee responsible for fixing the benchmark interest rate.

According to the RBI Act, the committee meets at least four times a year and publishes its decisions after each meeting. The meeting can begin only if at least four out of the six members are present. The new appointments were necessitated after the four-year tenure of the three government-nominated members Chetan Ghate, Pami Dua and Ravindra Dholakia ended in August.

ADHOCISM IN ACTION

After the heady announcement heralding long-awaited reforms, Indian Railways is moving cautiously on the implementation. Some observers are surprised at the slow pace. From the time when Covid struck and passenger rail traffic almost stopped, the Railways has had plenty of time on its hands to consider its internal rearrangement.

While all posts of Members of the Railway Board are ex-cadre now and should be filled with suitable officers, based on seniority and residual service, the Railway Ministry is edging ahead with great caution. Sources say that the post of Director General of HR (DGGHR) was filled with an Indian Railway Personnel Service (IRPS) officer, even though more senior officers from other cadres are eligible and available. It is also being reported that the post of Member Traffic & Rolling Stock is likely to be given to an officer from the Indian Railways Service of Electrical Engineers (IRSEE). Similarly, there seems to be a proposal to appoint the Member (Finance) from the Indian Railways Accounts Service (IRAS).

So far so good. But there is some grumbling among the Indian Railways Service of Engineers (IRSE) and Indian Railways Service of Mechanical Engineers (IRSME), which seem to have lost out on apex grade posts to the other services in the new plan. According to sources, the Railway Ministry is still not drafted the Recruitment Rules, which may explain the sense of adhocism prevailing in the ministry’s actions.

WORDSWORTH

Turdiform

It’s one of a select class of English words, including crapulent and formicate, that are guaranteed to mislead readers and raise a giggle among children of all ages. Turdiform is an adjective that refers to birds of the thrush family. It comes from Latin turdus for one of the European thrushes, probably the song thrush or mistle thrush (the latter having been given that name because it was noted for eating berries, particularly those of the mistletoe). Turdiform is found exclusively in old-time ornithological works. It has always been specialist and technical; its appearances lie mainly in the period from 1870 to 1910 and it is obsolete. We may guess that a certain fastidiousness on the part of writers has led to their expelling it from their vocabulary. However, the genus Turdus for the thrushes survives. Members include Turdus migratorius, the American Robin (the European robin used to be thought a thrush but is now in a different genus) and Turdus maximus, the Tibetan blackbird.

Turducken

Many of us have heard of this gastronomic marvel, which in the USA is associated with Thanksgiving and to a lesser extent with July 4. A chicken is stuffed inside a duck inside a turkey — the inner two deboned first and themselves stuffed with such delights as sausage, cornbread, or oyster. A culinary chimera, the turducken might be thought to stand on the same level of gustatory invention as the notorious Glaswegian deep-fried Mars bar, though those who have tried it say it’s quite tasty. Some chefs draw away in horror from it, citing the excessive amounts of skin and fat and the high risk of bacterial problems because it is so hard to ensure that all three birds are properly cooked through. This method of cooking is actually quite ancient, with recipes from medieval times that were often much more complicated still. The technical term for the process is engastration, from Greek words meaning “in the belly”. A well-known English example of the nineteenth century was Pandora’s Cushion, a boned goose stuffed with a boned chicken, which was stuffed with a boned pheasant, itself stuffed with a boned quail. If the turducken were not enough, a news article from 1997 said that a store in Louisiana was experimenting with a pigturducken, though nothing has been heard of it since.

BEING LATE TO WORK

Tom had this problem of getting up late in the morning and was always late for work. His boss was mad at him and threatened to fire him if he didn’t do something about it. So Tom went to his doctor who gave him a pill and told him to take it before he went to bed. Tom slept well and in fact beat the alarm in the morning by almost two hours. He had a leisurely breakfast and drove cheerfully to work. “Boss,” he said, “The pill actually worked!” “That’s all fine,” said the boss, “But where were you yesterday?”

SPECTRUM QUAD

Blinking when opportunity beckons

QUAD MEETING IN TOKYO SOUNDS PROMISING. THE DETERMINATION SHOWN BY AUSTRALIA, USA AND EVEN JAPAN IS ENCOURAGING. BUT IT IS NEW DELHI’S AMBIVALENT ATTITUDE THAT DISAPPOINTS

Foreign Ministers from four Quad countries met in Tokyo last Tuesday to discuss pandemic-related issues. At the behest of Japan, a Supply Chain Resilience Initiative (SCRI) in order to reduce dependence on China was also discussed. The new supply chain would enhance access to affordable vaccines, medicines, and medical equipment in the pandemic in addition to other goods. Japan thought that SCRI could substitute for ASEAN-led Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership which was boycotted by India.

Quad, however, drew international attention as it raised the hackles of Beijing for refocusing on the security co-operation in order to counter China. This was conspicuous in the statement of US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo. In his scathing attack on China, Pompeo stated, “As partners in this Quad, it is more critical now than ever that we collaborate to protect our people and partners from the CCP’s exploitation, corruption and coercion we have seen in the South, in the East China Sea, the Mekong, the Himalayas, the Taiwan Straits.” Pompeo hinted at institutionalising Quad and expanding it. Other countries sharing the spirit and the understanding with the Quad could come on board at a later time. Quad can evolve into a security framework that can counter the challenge that the Chinese Communist Party is posing to the world.

The remarks by Indian Foreign Minister S Jaishankar were astounding. He surprisingly made no reference to the five-month LAC standoff nor did he mention China. Jaishankar said, “The events of 20-20 have demonstrated the imperative for like-minded countries to coordinate responses to the various challenges that the pandemic has brought upon us. As vibrant and pluralistic democracies with shared values, our nations have collectively affirmed the importance of maintaining a free, open and inclusive Indo-Pacific.”

What are the prospects of Quad? China is already rattled by this group. The Chinese leadership has dubbed it as a mini NATO and an exclusive clique. A statement issued by their Foreign Ministry on Tuesday sounded highly critical of the Quad exercise. Beijing tends to bully countries joining the American camp. It has certainly turned aggressive against New Delhi for not reconciling to Chinese hegemony in the region and its quest for world power status. Beijing has carried a grudge for India giving asylum to the Dalai Lama and sheltering the Tibetan leadership in exile.

The Chinese animosity against India continues for the latter’s attempt to emerge as a power centre in Indo-Pacific. New Delhi moving closer to the USA exacerbates Chinese anger. Strange and incredible that New Delhi couldn’t detect the Chinese attitude towards India despite several anti-India activities it is engaged in. It behaved like the proverbial cat drinking milk with its eyes closed and thinking that nobody is watching.

It is high time New Delhi realised that it could not befriend China anymore and it has to unfriend it sooner than later. China understands the language of power and force, not persuasion, dialogue or consultation. New Delhi continues to suffer from confusion, equivocation and dithering with regard to China. Even now it seems to believe that China will roll back from the border through dialogue.

Quad provides an opportunity for India to make up its power disparity with China in alliance with other three countries. New Delhi should take greater initiative in formalising and militarising Quad, unless it makes a bilateral security agreement with the US. It seems to be opposed to militarisation of Quad, whereas the US wants to turn it into a security alliance. India’s stance defies understanding as China is already occupying 5,000 sq km of our territory. New Delhi may be calculating that if it moves into military alliances, Beijing might declare a war on India. Precisely for such an eventuality, a military alliance is necessary to defend our territory.

To sum up, Quad meeting in Tokyo sounds promising. The determination shown by Australia, USA and even Japan is encouraging. But it is New Delhi’s ambivalent attitude that disappoints. New Delhi continues to try to be neutral and friendly with both the blocks as it did in the past between USA and USSR with a tilt towards the latter. It tries to do the same between the US and China with a bias towards the former. Will it work?

FOCUS FOREIGN INVESTMENT

BARKING UP WRONG TREE

Union Minister for Communications, Electronics & Information Technology, Ravi Shankar Prasad, has expressed satisfaction that the number of mobile phone manufacturers in India has increased from two to 60 in the last five years. In parallel, Secretary Ajay Prakash Shawney has said that 90 per cent of the mobile phones being sold in the country are being manufactured here.

Further, we have had a stream of media reports saying that electronics majors have submitted proposals to invest large amounts in India. A similar announcement was made in 2015 that these companies will invest 17 billion dollars. These are encouraging statements. However, the electronics majors were already present in India in 2016 when the Make in India programme was launched. Foxconn and Lenovo had given contracts to local companies to manufacture their products in Sri City, Andhra Pradesh and Sriperumbudur in Tamil Nadu; and Samsung had its own manufacturing facility in Noida, Uttar Pradesh. Question is this: Why have they not expanded in the last five years?

In particular, a production facility of Motorola, a subsidiary of Lenovo, has been lying closed in Chennai. Lenovo has not even restarted its existing plant, let alone making new investment. The announcement made in 2015 that these companies will invest 17 billion dollars has clearly fallen flat. Assocham has said in a report that the mobile phones being ‘manufactured’ in India are actually only last line assembly just as the homemaker brings flour, pulse and vegetables and cooks a last line meal in the kitchen. This assembly work is not ‘manufacture.’

The objective of Make in India and Atma Nirbhar Bharat schemes is to create self-dependence. These manufacturers continue to be dependent on the import of parts. This grim reality is seen in the electronics imports of 55 billion dollars against exports of mere nine billion dollars in 2018-19. We are nowhere near becoming Atma Nirbhar. The truth is that there has been no progress since 2015.

The main roadblocks are our education system and government regulations. Investments will not come unless we solve these problems just as they have not come after the launch of Make in India in 2016

I studied eight posts regarding the reasons of slow progress of electronics manufacturing in India on the internet. Six of eight posts complained about the unavailability of skilled workers. One post explained that our colleges were asking the students to ‘learn’ the function of the 40 legs in an Intel chip—which they needed to memorise. Then the commenter says: “Even if the student were to become a repair technician, he wouldn’t be required to store the function of each of the parts of the dozens of varieties of chips in his mind. Instead, asking the student how he would use the integrated circuit to create a device would have been a hundredfold more stimulating, constructive, and productive.” Alas! The professors in our government colleges themselves do not know how to use the chips; and have no interest in learning it either because their salaries are secured as long as they churn out certificate-holding useless graduates.

Two of the eight posts complained about the cumbersome regulatory framework. I was told by a manufacturer from Bangalore that the government has recently introduced a requirement that every export consignment would require to be accompanied by a certificate from a chartered accountant. The manufacturer has to now do additional paper work to get the certificate. This takes an additional two days in delivery.

The government is creating such new roadblocks at every step—the beneficiary of which, one may surmise, is the grease money obtained by the officials. Other reasons mentioned in the posts were legal hurdles in implementation of contracts, cost of capital, high rates of tax and cost of land and electricity. I am not convinced of these reasons.

The government has made a laudable effort and made a scheme to provide 50 to 75 per cent capital subsidy for investments in new electronics manufacturing facilities. This is not going to work. It is like giving oxygen to a person dying from malnutrition. As said above, the main roadblocks are our education system and government regulations. Investments will not come unless we solve these problems just as they have not come after the launch of Make in India in 2016. It must be remembered that our bureaucrats get more opportunities to get grease money in disbursing these subsidies.

Perhaps, the government is being driven by the bad advice given by the World Bank. The Bank and other multilateral agencies like the United Nations are driven by the interests of industrialised nations. The governments of those countries, in turn, are driven by multinational corporations. These corporations have no interest in developing manufacturing in India. Their objective, on the contrary, is to kill Make in India so that they can supply electronics goods from their plants in Vietnam and Taiwan where there is greater availability of skilled labour and less extortion by the bureaucracy.

Thus, in its recent World Development Report, the World Bank has advised the Indian government to reduce import duties. Interestingly, the World Bank has itself said in the same report that the share of international trade in globally manufactured goods had increased from 43 per cent in 2000 to 53 per cent in 2008 when the global financial crisis took place. It declined to 45 per cent in 2015 after the crisis. Now, it can only further contract after the pandemic. Therefore, the government should not run after foreign investors as advised by the World Bank. The government must instead think through why would foreign capital come into India when our own High Net Worth Individuals are leaving for better pastures?

The government should solve the basic problems of the economy instead of giving capital subsidies. The professors of government colleges do not themselves have practical knowledge. Their salaries are secure. They do not want to teach. Further, the private universities are unable to charge adequate fees to employ competent teachers since the cost of education in the government colleges is less. There is a need to free the government colleges of the decrepit professors.

Secondly, the government must reduce the extortion by the bureaucracy. Thirdly, the government will have to reduce the social divisions in the society and have a constructive dialogue with the Opposition; and improve the environment—water and air in particular. Investments—foreign or domestic—will take place when we provide pleasant living conditions. The present hype about the proposals of foreign investments will certainly prove a pipedream.

Waste of tribal funds

Sir, Three different government departments claimed to have spent around Rs 60 lakh to develop a fish yard in Baripada market, taking money from the tribal development funds. Yet, so far, they have completed only a half-built complex to sell ‘Chilika fresh’. This place is around 600km from Chilika lake. The local fish markets thrive here with yards and markets in traditional mode and are growing. But the way the tribal funds meant for their livelihood development are squandered by officials and other vested interests is a matter of serious concern. The tribals earn their livelihood from neither catching nor selling fish. But a set of people are now enriching themselves from the fish business by way of massive pisciculture with support from fishery agencies. Hence such an ubiquitous project failed to strike the minds of anyone. Still we have spent hefty sums in the name of tribal development and then left it half-done! The tribal development department was kept in the dark while implementing this project. Tribals here eke out their livelihood from collection of sabai, sal leaf, bamboo as also from minor forest produce. Besides, several people have been inducted into various jobs in this project. The ZP chairperson, herself from this community, has resented about this waste of money, in a past ZP meeting. But, no one took a serious note.

Gas for homes

Sir, It’s commendable that the Gas Authority of India has undertaken the task of supplying cooking gas to households through pipes in select cities. The initiative would help consumers on two fronts. First, they need not visit the distributors for getting a refill; and two, there will not be any occasion to ask the delivery man to check the weight. The metered gas supply to individuals will be billed automatically and the users shall not have any tension of shortage or under-weighted cylinders. This sounds good, but who can guarantee the safety of supply? The recent explosion in a filling station in Bhubaneswar has raised our worry on this count. The authorities wake up from slumber only when an accident takes place. The Bhubaneswar incident is said to be the rarest of the rare kind in the history of gas explosion. It’s certainly time for the administration and the petroleum companies to see that no chance is taken to play with the lives of innocent customers.

Will Nitish's social engineering help NDA?

Bihar CM makes a sagacious attempt to consolidate his extremely backward castes support base while trying to make a dent into RJD's Muslim-Yadav combine

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Patna, Oct 9: The list of JD(U) candidates for the Bihar assembly elections bears the unmistakable stamp of Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, who has made a sagacious attempt to consolidate his extremely backward castes (EBC) support base while trying to make a dent into RJD's Muslim-Yadav combine.

The EBCs, numerically large but disorganised, have found a pride of place in the list, with 19 candidates drawn from this social segment, nurtured over the years by Kumar as a bulwark against the RJD.

Kumar, as part of his social engineering, zealously courted them through welfare measures like sub-quotas for them in government jobs in an attempt to make inroads into RJD's Muslim-Yadav combine.

Even more conspicuous is the candidature of 19 Yadavs, numerically the largest caste group in Bihar who have, by and large, stood rock solid behind the RJD.

Yadav candidates like sitting MLAs Bijendra Prasad Yadav and Poonam Yadav are old JD(U) hands.

However, new entrants like Chandrika Roy and Jaivardhan Yadav alias 'Bachcha' give a clearer idea of the game plan of Kumar, against whom the RJD has been trying to create, with little success, a wave of resentment over the betrayal of mandate a reference to the JD(U) boss winning the 2015 polls in alliance with the RJD but changing course midway and returning to the NDA.

Roy, who has been fielded from his pocket borough Parsa, is the father of Aishwarya Roy, who got married to the RJD supremo's elder son Tej Pratap Yadav in 2018 but was abandoned by her husband barely six months after tying the knot.

Jaivardhan, who won Paliganj for the RJD in 2015, walked into the JD(U) camp a couple of months ago. His exit seems to have made things too hot to handle for the RJD which has handed over Paliganj to the CPI(M) as part of a hurriedly cobbed alliance.

Jaivardhan Yadav is the grandson of Congress veteran late Ram Lakhan Singh Yadav, a former union minister and the most formidable Yadav leader in Bihar of the pre-Mandal era.

With 18 Yadav and 11 Muslim nominees, the JD(U) also seems to have sought to make a dent into the RJD's famed MY combination, the bedrock of the party's support base.

The candidature of 12 Kurmis, who are numerically small, is hardly surprising. The community takes pride in the fact that the chief minister is from amongst them. Of strategic importance, though, is party tickets to 15 Kushwahas, numerically the largest among OBCs after the Yadavs.

Kurmis and Koeris, the caste name by which Kushwahas are more popularly known, have been seen as political comrades in arms. Their camaraderie have earned them the sobriquet Luv-Kush in the political parlance of Bihar.

Attempts have been made by RLPSP chief and former union minister Upendra Kushwaha to wear away his castemen from the JD(U) but with hardly any success.

Seventeen tickets have gone to the Scheduled Castes, and the party hopes to offset any Dalit backlash caused by the rebellion of Chirag Paswans LJP with the help of Manjhi.

Nineteen candidates happen to be from among the upper castes, to whom the party has sought to reach out with the message that their outright rejection of the JD(U) after it snapped ties with BJP in 2013 notwithstanding, the party cares for all.

In any case, with Kumar returning to the NDA fold, his party hopes to secure the solid backing of the upper castes. Among the upper caste candidates, seven are Rajputs, whom the party has sought to reach out to with the induction of former Union minister Raghuvansh Prasad Singh's son Satya Prakash, who is expected to be accommodated in the legislative council later.

Raghuvansh Prasad Singh, a founding member of the RJD who enjoyed respect across party lines, had resigned from the primary membership a day before his death from post-COVID complications and a couple of months after stepping down as national vice-president.

The party has also fielded 10 Bhumihars. These include turncoats like Sudarshan Kumar, the sitting MLA from Barbigaha, who quit the Congress recently and is the JD(U) candidate for the same seat. Another Bhumihar candidate who has aroused much curiosity is Rajiv Lochan Singh from Mokama, a soft-spoken man with roots in the Sangh Parivar who moves around wearing a tilak and is known by the nickname sadhu baba.

The docile debutant is pitted against multiple-term MLA Anant Kumar Singh, a dreaded figure who was booked under the stringent anti-terror law UAPA last year after a huge cache of arms, ammunition and explosives was recovered from his residence.

Anant Singh had started his political journey in 2005 with the JD(U) and was known to enjoy the confidence of Nitish Kumar. Ahead of the 2015 assembly polls, he burnt bridges with the chief minister when he quit the party saying he was opposed to the proposed tie-up with RJD. The RJD supremo, on his part, claimed during the campaign that he had got Nitish Kumar to act against the Mokama MLA for committing atrocities against a Yadav boy.

Politics is known to make strange bedfellows and Anant Singh has ended up entering the fray as an RJD candidate.

Amid tickets row in Bihar, Congress plans Rahul's rallies

Congress workers are protesting at the party headquarters in Delhi, alleging nepotism by senior leaders. Some alleged that tickets were sold

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi/Patna, Oct 9: Amid growing resentment among different aspirants over the ticket distribution for Bihar Assembly elections, the Congress is chalking out a campaign plan in which Rahul Gandhi will be its star campaigner. Party sources said that during the three-phase polls, Rahul Gandhi may address six rallies - two in each phase - and one joint rally along with the Mahagathbandhan partners.

The party also plans to reach out to the electorate digitally since Covid-19 scare many prevent people from turning out in large numbers at Congress rallies and other public meetings.

The Congress is contesting 70 seats, including 21 in the first phase.

Tickets for the first phase were announced Wednesday, leading to a lot of resentment among the unsuccessful aspirants. Muslim leaders felt upset in the first phase, not even a single ticket has been given to minorities.

Congress workers are protesting at the party headquarters in Delhi, alleging nepotism by senior leaders. Some alleged that tickets were sold.

While the Congress leadership was dismissive of such protests and allegations, it maintained that the party had a limited number of seats in its quota and hence not everyone could be given a ticket. Those who were left out will be disenchanted, the leaders said.

The state will go to polls in three phases October 28, November 3 and November 7. The counting of votes will take place November 10.

EC doubles broadcast time allotted to parties in Bihar

Each recognised national and regional party will be given a base time of 90 minutes

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Oct 9: The Election Commission Friday doubled the broadcast time allotted to recognised political parties in Bihar on Doordarshan and All India Radio during the upcoming state assembly polls in view of the COVID-19 pandemic and the enhanced relevance of 'non-contact based' campaign.

Each recognised national and regional party will be given a base time of 90 minutes. The facilities will be available from the regional centre of All India Radio and Doordarshan and relayed by other stations within Bihar, it said.

The additional time to be allotted to a party has been decided on the basis of its poll performance in the last Bihar Assembly election in 2015.

"A base time of 90 minutes will be given to each national party and recognised state party of Bihar uniformly on the regional kendras of Doordarshan network and All India Radio network in Bihar," the commission said. No party will be allocated more than 30 minutes in a single broadcast session.

The period of broadcast will be between the last date of filing nominations and two days before the date of polling in Bihar.

"The Prasar Bharati Corporation in consultation with the Commission will decide the actual date and time for broadcast and telecast. This will be subject to the broad technical constraints governing the actual time of transmission available with the Doordarshan and All India Radio," the poll panel said.

The parties will be required to submit transcripts and recordings in advance.

"In addition to the broadcast by parties, the Prasar Bharati Corporation will organise a maximum of four panel discussions and/or debates on the Kendra/Station of Doordarshan/All India Radio. Each eligible party can nominate one representative to such a programme," the commission said.

As budget schools shut, uncertain future haunts teachers

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Hyderabad, Oct 9: With dozens of budget schools in Hyderabad either shutting down or on the verge of closure under the impact of the pandemic, an uncertain future haunts hundreds of private school teachers.

Closure of small unaided schools, often referred to as budget schools, is the latest blow to the teachers, already reeling under unprecedented financial distress since March.

With no salaries or 40-50 per cent pay for the last six months, private school teachers are among the worst affected by Covid induced lockdown and its continuing impact.

Unable to pay rents for the buildings and bear other expenses, dozens of budget schools have shut down over the last few weeks. When the managements themselves are at crossroads, the plight of teachers drawing salaries ranging from Rs 4,000 to Rs 15,000 can be well imagined.

While teachers of aided schools and the major ones with multiple branches are somehow managing with 40-50 per cent salaries, their counterparts in budget schools are struggling for even a square meal.

Some teachers, IANS spoke to, broke down while narrating their woes and pleading for some help from the government. Most of them did not want their identity or that of their schools to be revealed for obvious reasons.

As the schools have not terminated their services, they hope to get back to work once things return to normal.

With her meagre salary of Rs 15,000 at a private school, Tehseen Fatima (named changed on request), a widow, was running the house, looking after her two children and aged parents. The pandemic has shattered her life.

"I never sought help from anybody but for the first time I had no option but to go and stand in a queue for ration distributed by a philanthropist," she said in a voice choked with emotions.

She, like other teachers at her school, is getting a 40 per cent salary which is insufficient to meet the family's needs. She wants to offer her services online for some other institution but has no laptop. "If somebody arranges a used laptop it will be a big favour for us," said Tehseen.

Still feeling reluctant to speak about their problems, many are suffering in silence. "There is no support system from the government for people like us. There is no one where we can speak about our issues," lamented Narasing Nayak, a teacher at New St. Maria High School, Falaknuma.

Shabana, a Telugu teacher at a private school in the old city of Hyderabad, has not received salary since March. With 18 years of experience in teaching, she used to draw a Rs 10,000 salary before COVID broke out.

Living in a small rented house in Yakutpura whose roof leaks every time it rains, the family of six are facing a really tough time. Her husband, an electrician at a function hall, is also getting half salary for the last six months.

"We have no money to pay the monthly rent and for electricity, water and other day to day expenses. We are struggling a lot and there is no help from any quarter," said Shabana, 38.

When she approached the school management for salary, they advised her to look for some other job.

"Most of the schools are budget schools and teachers especially at primary and middle school teachers are the worst sufferers. They come from lower middle class backgrounds. Whatever little aid they got during lockdown has exhausted. We are now seeing the full impact of the distress," said Dr Mazher Hussain, Executive Director of Confederation of Voluntary Associations (COVA), which extended helping hand to teachers during the lockdown.

Since the managements of budget schools are facing a huge crisis, he said the government should intervene to provide some relief to them by persuading owners of the school buildings to slash the rents.

Stating that this is a problem with multiple dimensions, Mazher cautioned that if it was not addressed it could have disastrous consequences for society. "The students at the budget schools are first generation learners. Since these schools charge a monthly fee ranging from Rs 300 to Rs 1,000 per month, parents from lower middle class had enrolled their children. If these children drop out and slip into child labour it will not be possible to bring them back to schools," he said.

With parents not paying the fee, the school managements are facing a tough time in paying rent, electricity bill and meeting maintenance expenses not to speak about salaries of the teachers. Syed Aslam of MK High School in Bandlaguda area told IANS that they are paying 60-70 per cent salaries to teachers taking online classes for students of 6 to 10. "Only 30 per cent of the students are attending online classes as many don't have smart phones or Internet connection at home. As our school is located in a slum area, we can't force parents to pay the fee," he said.

Priest burnt alive over land dispute

RAJASTHAN CHIEF MINISTER ASHOK GEHLOT CONDEMNED THE INCIDENT AND SAID THAT THE MAIN ACCUSED HAS BEEN ARRESTED, WHILE THE OPPOSITION BJP ATTACKED THE GOVERNMENT SAYING THE LAW AND ORDER HAS DETERIORATED AND PEOPLE ARE UNDER FEAR IN THE STATE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jaipur, Oct 9: A priest died after being set on fire allegedly by five people who wanted to encroach on temple land in Rajasthan's Karauli district, police said Friday.

Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot condemned the incident and said that the main accused has been arrested, while the opposition BJP attacked the government saying the law and order has deteriorated and people are under fear in the state.

The incident occurred on Wednesday in Bukna village where five accused caught the priest Babu Lal Vaishnav near an agriculture farm and set him on fire after pouring petrol on him. He was admitted in a crucial condition to SMS hospital in Jaipur where he died on Thursday night. "The main accused, Kailash Meena, has been arrested, while another accused was rounded up," Superintendent of Police, Karauli, Mridul Kachhawa, said. The SP said a case of attempt to murder was registered at Sapotra police station and it was converted into a murder case after the death of the priest.

The accused wanted to encroach upon the land of the temple, the police said. Deputy Superintendent of Police Kaila Devi, Mahaveer Prasad, said that the body was handed over to family members on Friday. The chief minister termed the incident extremely unfortunate and condemnable, and said the guilty would not be spared. "The Rajasthan government is with the grieving family. The main accused in the incident has been arrested and action is being taken. The guilty will not be spared," Gehlot tweeted in Hindi.

Such acts have no place in a civilised society, he said. BJP leaders in New Delhi, including Union minister Prakash Javadekar, cited the ghastly murder to attack the Congress over the recent crimes, including rapes, in the western state. Taking a swipe at Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, Javadekar said, "Instead of going to different places on political tourism, he should take cognizance of heinous crimes against women and apologise to the people of Rajasthan that their government has failed." Action should be taken against the culprits, he said. "Law and order in Rajasthan has gone for a toss," the minister alleged referring to the Karauli incident.

The BJP leaders in the state charged that the law and order situation has worsened in the state under Congress rule. "There is no fear of law among criminals who are roaming freely under Congress rule. People are living in fear while criminals have no fear. This is the situation when the chief minister himself is holding the home portfolio," BJP state president Satish Poonia told reporters.

Poonia also formed a three-member committee which will visit Sapotra. "The fact-finding committee comprises Jaipur MP Ramcharan Bohra, party's national secretary and former MLA Alka Gurjar and former state president of Bhartiya Janta Yuva Morcha Jitendra Meena. The committee will visit Sapotra and submit a report to the state president," BJP spokesperson and MLA Ramlal Sharma said.

Condemning the incident, former chief minister Vasundhara Raje said in a statement that the crime graph is rising in the state, it is clear that no woman, child, elderly person or Dalit is safe in the state.

"The Congress government of the state should now wake up from slumber and get the family justice by strictly punishing the culprits," she said. Rajasthan Congress chief Govind Singh Dotsara said the police have already caught the main accused. Vaishnav's family members have demanded action against the SHO, investigation by a deputy SP rank official, compensation and government job for a family member.

LALU GETS BAIL, BUT WILL STAY IN JAIL

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Ranchi, Oct 9: Former Bihar Chief Minister Lalu Prasad was Friday granted bail in a fodder scam case, but the Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) President will remain in jail for his involvement in other cases.

The Jharkhand High Court Friday granted bail to Lalu Prasad in the Chaibasa treasury fraud case. Justice Aresh Singh granted him bail on the ground of spending half of his jail term in the Chaibasa case. He was awarded five years' jail term in the case.

Lalu Prasad has been convicted in four fodder scam cases. In 2013, he was convicted in the first case. He was convicted in three other cases of fodder scam in 2017 and 2018. During the last hearing on September 11, the CBI had opposed the bail plea of Lalu Prasad on the ground that he didn't complete 30 months (half the sentence) in jail. The ex-Bihar CM had contended that he had completed 29 months in jail, which was almost half of his jail term of five years.

Though the veteran leader has got bail in two cases, he will remain in jail for his involvement in the Dumka treasury fraud case, in which he has been awarded two consequent seven-year jail terms. At present, Lalu Prasad is staying at the Kelly Bungalow designated for the Director of the Rajendra Institute of Medical Science (RIMS) in Ranchi. After his conviction in four fodder scam cases, Lalu Prasad was staying at the paying ward of RIMS, instead of the Birsu Munda central jail on health grounds. He was shifted to the RIMS Director's bungalow due to coronavirus fear. The RJD chief has been in RIMS for over two years now. The BJP had questioned the move to shift him to the Kelly Bungalow. In a separate case, the high court has sought explanation from the jail administration for shifting Lalu Prasad to the RIMS Director's residence.

No garba in Covid times

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Ahmedabad, Oct 9: The pomp and grandeur associated with Navratri in Gujarat will be largely missing this year as the state government Friday banned organisation of any 'garba' event during the upcoming festival due to the coronavirus pandemic.

The government said it will not allow any type of garba event in the state during Navratri, starting from October 17, and also released a set of guidelines for the festive season, which usually sees large gatherings, a fertile ground for COVID-19 spread.

For the upcoming festivals, the BJP government released standard operating procedures (SOPs) which stress on COVID-19-appropriate behaviour by citizens to curb the infection. No big, medium or small scale garba event will be allowed in the state during the nine-day festival, the government said.

Garba is a popular folk dance of Gujarat and is performed with passion and fervour during the Navratri festival. The government, however, will allow collective prayers to Goddess Durga where number of people should not be more than 200, it said in a release. The time limit of prayers will be of one hour, but nobody can perform garba at such gatherings, it said. Prior permission of government authorities has been made manda-

Bhima Koregaon case: NIA files chargesheet

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, Oct 9: The National Investigation Agency (NIA) Friday filed a chargesheet against eight people, including activists Gautam Navlakha and 82-year-old Father Stan Swamy, for their alleged involvement in inciting a mob to violence in Bhima Koregaon near Pune on January 1, 2018, officials said. Swamy, who said he has never been to Bhima Koregaon, was arrested from his home in Ranchi on Thursday evening and brought to Mumbai where he was produced before a court Friday and remanded to judicial custody till October 23.

He is possibly the oldest person to be charged under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA), officials said. Barring one person - Milind Teltumde who is absconding - all other named in the charge-sheet for allegedly conspiring against the government are in judicial custody. NIA spokesperson and Deputy Inspector General of Police in the agency Sonia Narang said the charge-sheet was submitted before a designated court here.

Writer fumes as jeweller refuses to speak in Marathi

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, Oct 9: Marathi writer Shobha Deshpande staged nearly a 20-hour protest here after a city-based jeweller allegedly refused to speak in Marathi and asked her to leave his shop where she had gone to make a purchase.

The jeweller Friday apologised to the veteran writer, who had staged the protest overnight on the footpath outside his shop since Thursday.

Deshpande was later taken to a hospital for a medical check-up by the police.

The Raj Thackeray-led Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) backed the protest by Deshpande and warned the jeweller, Shankarlal Jain, that he will not be able to open his shop till he learns Marathi. MNS workers also allegedly slapped Jain. Deshpande said she had gone to the jewellery shop in Colaba, south Mumbai, to buy earrings.

During their conversation, the author insisted that Jain speak to her in Marathi.

His shop is in the capital of Maharashtra whose language is Marathi and he must know how to speak Marathi. "He said he cannot speak Marathi. I was speaking in Marathi and he did not. "Since I did not speak in Hindi, he refused to sell me the earrings. He arrogantly asked me to leave the place, Deshpande alleged.

The jeweller Friday apologised to the veteran writer, who had staged the protest overnight on the footpath outside his shop since Thursday. Deshpande was later taken to a hospital for a medical check-up by the police

The writer said she demanded that the jeweller show the licence required to run the shop, but he refused.

"When I called the police, they too took the jeweller's side. Then I staged the protest," Deshpande alleged. Jain on Friday morning apologised to the writer, who staged dharna for nearly 20 hours before being taken to the hospital.

Meanwhile, the MNS workers, who had arrived at the spot to express solidarity with Deshpande, were seen slapping the jeweller as he apologised to the writer.

"We were here to support the writer. We taught the jeweller a lesson for being arrogant. We have made him apologise. He will not be able to open shop until he learns Marathi," MNS leader Sandeep Deshpande said.

Mayawati wooing Brahmins in a big way

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Lucknow, Oct 9: The beleaguered Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) has decided to reach out to the Brahmin community in Uttar Pradesh to make up for the party's shrinking electoral base.

BSP president Mayawati has asked senior party leaders to launch a "Brahmin Jodo" campaign from 'Navratri' this month. The party is holding meetings at all district levels with five top party leaders in every district working out the modalities of the campaign.

Brahmin leaders in the BSP have been asked to lead the campaign, irrespective of their seniority in the party. The party general secretary Satish Chandra Mishra is managing the campaign at the state level. He has already held meetings with district leaders from all 75 districts of the state. In eastern Uttar Pradesh, the BSP plans to project former minister Ranganath Mishra and Bhisim Shankar Tiwari as the Brahmin leaders while central Uttar Pradesh, the responsibility will be given to BSP MP Ritesh Pandey, former ministers Antu Mishra and Nakul Dubey.

The party is frantically looking for a Brahmin face in western Uttar Pradesh since one of its senior most leaders, Ramvir Upadhyay has moved towards the BJP. A senior BSP leader said, "Behenji (Mayawati) wants to repeat the 2007 experiment when Dalits and Brahmins joined hands to usher in the party's first majority government.

"We are reaching out to Brahmins who are decidedly upset with the BJP after the Vikas Dubey encounter. We plan to assuage the feelings of the community and bring them into the BSP fold." Meanwhile, for the first time, Mayawati will be addressing virtual rallies to connect with Brahmins in every district. She will also connect with the Muslim leaders in a similar manner.

HAL employee held for leaking secrets to ISI

The HAL staffer has been accused of supplying confidential and sensitive information about Indian fighter aircraft and the manufacturing facilities in Nashik, said Additional DGP (ATS), Deven Bharti

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Nashik/Mumbai, Oct 9: In a major swoop, the Maharashtra Anti-Terrorism Squad (Nashik unit) has arrested an employee of the high-security Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) on alleged charges of spying for a foreign agency, top officials said here Friday.

The HAL staffer -- whose identity has not been revealed -- has been accused of supplying confidential and sensitive information about Indian fighter aircraft and the manufacturing facilities in Nashik, said Additional DGP (ATS), Deven Bharti.

Following a tip-off on his suspicious activities, the employee - working with HAL's critical aircraft manufacturing division in Nashik - was under the radar of multiple agencies, including the Nashik Police, ATS and Military Intelligence for the past several days, and was finally nabbed around three days ago, said officials.

Sustained interrogation of the accused revealed that he was in regular contact with some members of Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) and was passing on secret and sensitive details and information about the HAL manufacturing unit at Ozar, the Indian Air Force base in Nashik, and the prohibited areas within the unit.

Among other things, the sleuths learnt that he was allegedly passing on documents, photographs, maps with longitude-latitude markings of defence-related facilities in Nashik, via WhatsApp and other modes of communication.

REPRESENTATIVE IMAGE

"An offence under Sections 3, 4 and 5 of the Official Secrets Act, 1923 has been registered against the accused. We have seized three mobile handsets with five SIM cards and two memory cards, which have been sent for forensic examination," Bharti said.

The accused was produced before a special ATS court in Nashik, which remanded him to 10 days' police custody, said ATS DIG Jayant Naiknavre. Further investigation into the entire racket to unearth the possibility of others' involvement is presently underway.

"As the investigation is on, we have no comments to offer," said HAL spokesperson Gopal Sutar. Located around 200 km north of Mumbai, the HAL Aircraft Manufacturing Division is engaged in the production of different variants of the MiG and Sukhoi fighter aircraft.

The facility is the mainstay for Russian-origin aircraft in terms of life extension, modification, site repair and investigation. It also exports spares to Russia, Poland, Algeria, Malaysia, Vietnam, Syria and Egypt.

Virus can survive on skin for 9 hrs: Study

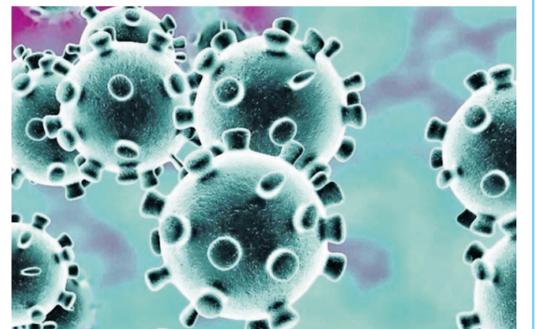

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Oct 9: The SARS-CoV-2 virus, which causes COVID-19, may linger on human skin for nine hours, much longer than the flu viruses can, according to a study.

The influenza A virus (IAV), in contrast, remained viable on human skin for nearly two hours, said the researchers including those from Kyoto Prefectural University of Medicine in Japan.

The study, published in the journal Clinical Infectious Diseases, found that both the viruses were rapidly inactivated on skin with a hand sanitiser. The finding underscores the importance of hand washing or using a sanitiser to prevent the spread of COVID-19.

The researchers noted that the stability of SARS-CoV-2 on human skin remains unknown, considering the hazards of viral exposure to humans. "We generated a model that allows the safe reproduction of clinical studies on the application of pathogens to human skin and elucidated the stability of SARS-CoV-2 on the human skin," the researchers wrote in the journal.

ical studies on the application of pathogens to human skin and elucidated the stability of SARS-CoV-2 on the human skin," the researchers wrote in the journal.

They evaluated the stability of SARS-CoV-2 and IAV, mixed with culture medium or upper respiratory mucus, on human skin surfaces. The researchers also evaluated the disinfection effectiveness on skin of 80 per cent ethanol against SARS-CoV-2 and IAV.

The study found that SARS-CoV-2 and IAV were inactivated more rapidly on skin surfaces than on other surfaces such as stainless steel, glass and plastic. The survival time was significantly longer - 9 hours - for SARS-CoV-2 than for IAV (1.82 hours), according to the researchers.

THE SHOW MUST GO ON

THEATRE ADAPTS TO STRANGE TIMES

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Oct 9: The longing for his sick mother waiting at home in Guwahati tugged at Raju Roy's heart but the call of the stage, which was also the only way he could pay for her medicines, held him back.

After seven long months away from stage, Roy had managed to grab the lead role in "Pehla Satyagrahi", the National School of Drama's first theatrical production since the lockdown was announced in March and the actor just couldn't give it up. "I was hungry for the stage. I was hungry to get a role in anything and then suddenly I got this opportunity," Roy said.

Being back on stage was the elixir he had been waiting for. Yes, it was a very different experience - for the audience and the cast - but then if this what the times called for he was up for it. Temperature checks to enter the campus, segregated seating for the strictly limited number of people allowed and mandatory face masks made for an unconventional theatre experience.

"It was unusual, but theatre prepares us for the unusual," Roy said. Earlier this month, the Central government further eased restrictions under its unlock guidelines and allowed live performances at open theatre facilities with strict dos and don'ts. NSD made its 'debut' in the COVID era with 'Pehla Satyagrahi' being staged at the campus lawns for three days beginning October 2 to commemorate Mahatma Gandhi's 151st birth anniversary. It was also the among the first plays to be staged in the new normal.

Live theatre is considered a superior form of acting because the reaction of the audience is instantly delivered to the actors on stage and there are no repeats. Be it a collective sigh or a few smiling faces, the actors can read the audience and measure their response.

"Yes, it felt a bit strange to not get that reaction from the audience that we are used to," said Roy but he soon adapted. "For theatre actors the number of people shouldn't matter. I have once acted in front of two people," he added.

Megha Kumari, one of those who watched "Pehla Satyagrahi", found "something lacking" because she couldn't sit next to her friends.

"Even though you are not supposed to talk during a show, a quick glance or a quiet nudge delivers the message to your friend. I think being able to communicate with your friend just adds to the entire experience of a play, even if it's non-verbal," said the college student who sat six feet away from her friends.

The National School of Drama, India's premier theatre institute, has plans to stage plays every alternate weekend at its campus, director-in-charge Suresh Sharma. Adjusting to the changing times is the only way theatre can return to the people.

Plot to kidnap Michigan Guv busted, she rebukes Trump

Thirteen men, seven of them associated with an anti-government militia group called the Wolverine Watchmen, have been arrested

AGENCIES

Detroit, Oct 9: Thirteen men, seven of them associated with an anti-government militia group called the Wolverine Watchmen, have been arrested on charges of conspiring to kidnap the Michigan governor Gretchen Whitmer, attack the state legislature and threaten law enforcement, prosecutors said Thursday. Prosecutors said the conspirators discussed recruiting a force of 200 supporters to storm the state capitol building in Lansing and take hostages, but later switched to a plan to kidnap Whitmer at her vacation home. At a news conference, Whitmer accused Trump of fomenting political extremism, citing his comments during last week's US presidential debate against Joe Biden in which Trump declined to condemn white supremacists and instead called for members of the Proud Boys to "stand back and stand by."

"When our leaders meet with, encourage and fraternise with domestic terrorists they legitimize their actions, and they are complicit," Whitmer said. Trump lashed back at Whitmer on Twitter late Thursday, saying the governor "has done a terrible job" and casting her as being ungrateful to his administration. "My Justice Department and Federal Law Enforcement announced... today that they foiled a dangerous plot against the Governor of Michigan. Rather than say thank you, she calls me a White Supremacist," Trump wrote. Biden weighed in with his own statement, accusing Trump of "giving oxygen to the bigotry and hate we see on the march in our country." Internal U.S. security memos in recent months have warned that violent domestic extremists could pose a threat to election-related targets, a concern heightened by political tensions, civil unrest and foreign disinformation campaigns. FBI Director Christopher Wray said in September that his agency was conducting investigations into domestic extremists, including white supremacists and anti-fascist groups. The FBI became aware through social media in early 2020 of groups discussing the "violent overthrow" of multiple state governments and used confidential sources to track their movements, according to court records. The six men named in the federal complaint - Adam Fox, Barry Croft, Ty Garbin, Kaleb Franks, Daniel Harris and Brandon Caserta - could face life in prison if convicted on charges of attempting to kidnap Whitmer. Fox and Croft, in particular, discussed detonating bombs as a diversionary tactic. "and Fox even inspected the underside of a Michigan highway bridge for places to seat an explosive," Andrew Birge, U.S. attorney for the western district of Michigan, told a briefing.

Deforestation in Amazon falls but destruction still high

REUTERS

Brasilia, Oct 9: Deforestation in Brazil's Amazon rainforest fell in September for the third straight month compared to a year ago, government data showed Friday, but destruction remains far higher than before President Jair Bolsonaro took office in 2019. Forest clearances in the world's largest rainforest are down 10% in the first nine months of 2020, compared to the same period a year ago, according to data released by government space research agency INPE. September was the 7th highest month for deforestation on record, outstripping any month in the two years preceding Bolsonaro's inauguration. Environmental advocates blame right-wing Bolsonaro, who has rolled back environmental enforcement and called for mining and farming protected areas of the Amazon, for emboldening illegal loggers, ranchers and miners to destroy the forest. Bolsonaro says he aims to lift the region out of poverty and that the amount of forest still standing shows Brazil is a model for conservation. Last week, US Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden called for a world effort to offer $20 billion to end Amazon deforestation and threatened Brazil with unspecified "economic consequences" if it did not "stop tearing down the forest." In response, Bolsonaro blasted Biden as making cowardly threats to Brazil's sovereignty. Despite the consecutive months of falling deforestation, Brazil's official deforestation measure for 2020 is expected to show a rise. Deforestation is measured annually by how much forest has been cleared as of the end of July, as compared to the previous August. Those months have less cloud cover that interferes with the satellite images. For that period, deforestation rose 34.6% to 9.216 square kilometers, the preliminary data show.

Pak bans TikTok

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Islamabad, Oct 9: Pakistan's telecom watchdog Friday banned the popular Chinese video-sharing app TikTok after getting numerous complaints against its "immoral" content. The Pakistan Telecommunication Authority (PTA) said in a statement that a "number of complaints from different segments of the society" were made "against immoral/indecent content" on TikTok.

The regulator took the step after a "final notice" was given to TikTok to comply with the instructions for development of an effective mechanism for a proactive moderation of its unlawful online contents, it said. However, TikTok failed to comply with the instructions which forced the PTA to ban it in the country. The watchdog said that it was open for engagement with the mobile application's parent company and would review its decision if a mechanism was developed to moderate the content as per the earlier instructions. TikTok, owned by China's ByteDance, has been in crosshairs worldwide. The Indian and the US governments have already banned it over security concerns.

China joins COVAX alliance for global distribution of vaccines

AGENCIES

Beijing, Oct 9: China has officially joined the World Health Organisation's (WHO) COVAX alliance to equitably distribute COVID-19 vaccines around the globe, ending speculation that it plans to supply them on its own to developing countries to improve its image dented by the pandemic since it emerged in Wuhan in December last year. According to the WHO, countries should join the COVID-19 Vaccine Global Access Facility (COVAX Facility) by September 18 but not later than October 9 with upfront payments. "On October 8, China and Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, signed an agreement, officially joining COVAX," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Hua Chunying said in a statement on Friday. "This is an important step China has taken to uphold the concept of a shared community of health for all and to honour its commitment to turn COVID-19 vaccines into a global public good," she said, apparently refuting reports that China plans to distribute the vaccines to developing countries on its own ahead of developed countries. Hua later told a media briefing that China is finalising the modalities of its participation with officials of Gavi and agreed to buy 15 COVAX vaccines to administer them to the Chinese population. China has been in communication with COVAX parties and will purchase vaccine for 15 million people in China, this is based on the consensus reached by both sides and this is a good result for both, she said. "Purchase of this percentage only accounts for one per cent of the national population but it demonstrates our support to the programme," Hua said, adding that any larger purchase by China to cover its 1.4 billion population would deprive the vaccine opportunity to people from a number of countries. WHO announced in August that "172 economies are now engaged in discussions to potentially participate in COVAX, a global initiative aimed at working with vaccine manufacturers to provide countries worldwide equitable access to safe and effective vaccines, once they are licensed and approved."

'nCoV broke out in world's various parts last year'

China Friday claimed that the coronavirus broke out in the various parts of the world last year but it was the only one to have reported and acted first, refuting the widely-held view that the deadly contagion originated in Wuhan before turning out to be a pandemic. China, besides denying the US allegations that COVID-19 has emerged from a bio-lab in Wuhan, also rejected that it emanated from a wet market in the central Chinese city from bats or pangolins before infecting humans. Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Hua Chunying told a media briefing that "the coronavirus is a new kind of virus as more and more facts emerge as reports reveal, we all know that the epidemic broke out in various places in the world at the end of last year, while China was the first to report the outbreak, identified the pathogen and shared the genome sequence with the world." Hua's comments came in response to US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo's allegations of a cover-up by the ruling Communist Party of China (CPC).

Virus measures strand almost 3 mn migrants: UN

THE MIDDLE EAST AND NORTH AFRICA HAD THE MOST STRANDED MIGRANTS, WITH 1.26MN STUCK, FOLLOWED BY ASIA AND THE PACIFIC WITH 977,000

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct 9: More than 2.7 million migrants who wished to return home have been stranded abroad because of restrictions put in place to fight the coronavirus pandemic, the United Nations said Friday. The world needs to urgently step up cooperation to allow people to return in a safe manner despite the coronavirus constraints, said the UN's International Organisation for Migration. The IOM warned in a report that border closures and travel bans had left large numbers of migrants stranded. It defined stranded migrants as people outside their country of habitual residence who wanted to return home but were being prevented by restrictions related to the pandemic. IOM chief Antonio Vitorino urged countries to do more for the roughly 2.75 million people stuck in limbo. "The scope and subsequent enforcement of tens of thousands of mobility restrictions, including border closures and nationwide lockdowns related to Covid-19, requires states to reach out to their neighbours and to migrants' countries of origin to address their needs and vulnerabilities," he said in a statement. IOM said it had calculated the 2.75 million figure from official sources on known cases up to July 13 of migrants stranded abroad in need of assistance, including food, water, shelter and repatriation. They include seasonal workers, temporary residence holders, international students, migrants who travelled for medical treatment and seafarers. The Middle East and North Africa had the most stranded migrants, with 1.26 million stuck, followed by Asia and the Pacific with 977,000. There were a further 203,000 in the European Economic Area and Switzerland, and 111,000 in North and Central America and the Caribbean, it found. "Large underestimation" Based on data from 382 locations in more than 101 countries, it "is considered a large underestimation of the number of migrants stranded or otherwise impacted by Covid-19", IOM said.

The IOM said it had received requests to assist nearly 115,000 stranded migrants to return home safely and voluntarily, and had been able to do so for more than 15,000 of the most vulnerable in recent months. "Once stranded, some migrants are at a higher risk of abuse, exploitation and neglect," it warned. "The loss of livelihoods can increase vulnerabilities and expose them to exploitation by criminal syndicates, human traffickers and others who take advantage of these situations." The organisation said that too often, migrants were excluded from national coronavirus response and recovery plans due to their irregular status.

Bankers, experts hail central bank's growth-oriented policy

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Oct 9: Bankers and financial experts Friday hailed RBI's policy, saying the decision to keep the key repo rate unchanged is an accommodative approach to manage inflation while keeping growth as target, amid the current economic conditions.

The Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) evaluated domestic and global macroeconomic and financial conditions and voted unanimously to leave the repo rate unchanged at 4%, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said in his policy statement for the bi-monthly monetary policy review.

It also decided to continue with the accommodative stance of monetary policy as long as necessary - at least during the current financial year and into the next year - to revive growth on a durable basis and mitigate the impact of COVID-19, while ensuring that inflation remains within the target going forward.

Given the expectation of inflation to stay elevated and a GDP contraction of 9.5% in 2020-21, RBI has done the right thing by announcing "discretion-based" policy responses rather than being "rule based", he added. Bank of India's chief executive AK Das said the retail and small business segments will also have better prospects by measures, Punjab National Bank's MD and CEO SS Mallikarjuna Rao welcomed the ₹1 lakh crore targeted long term repo operations and said it will support the economic growth. Friday's monetary policy was as aggressively accommodative as possible without cutting the policy rate, said Abheek Barua, Chief Economist, HDFC Bank.

"Given the stance, there is a significant probability of a rate cut in February, if not in December itself as inflation, as we expect, moderates. Has the RBI gone overboard in its effort to support growth? We think not. These are unprecedented times and the Indian economy's revival efforts are hobbled by the lack of adequate fiscal support. If monetary policy does have to do the heavy lifting, it cannot do it within the confines of a conventional take-no-risks framework," Barua said.

Stock market benchmarks rallied on Friday as financial stocks advanced following the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) accommodative policy stance and steps to boost liquidity to the banking sector. The benchmark repurchase (repo) rate has been left unchanged at 4%, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said while announcing the decisions taken by the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC).

"Markets are trading currently at their peak, aided by fast recovery of economic activities and increased rural demand.

"Over the week, benchmark indices have ascended to new high supported by restoration of industrial activity near pre-COVID-19 level,

US imposes tariffs on aluminum sheet from India

REUTERS

Washington, Oct 9: The United States is imposing new tariffs on $1.96 billion worth of aluminum sheet products from 18 countries after determining that the goods were being dumped, US Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross said Friday.

The tariffs were being immediately imposed on countries including Germany and Bahrain, even though the department's determination that there was dumping was preliminary, he told Fox Business Network.

Brazil, Croatia, Egypt, Greece, India, Indonesia, Italy, Oman, Romania, Serbia, Slovenia, South Africa, South Korea, Spain, Taiwan and Turkey were also affected, he said.

Ross said the US International Trade Commission would make the final determination in February 2021.

He said China was not on the list, adding U.S. tariffs had already been imposed on Beijing's aluminum products, which led to Chinese excess capacity that displaced production in other countries and resulted in dumping in the United States.

The tariff rate would be largest against Germany with 52% to 132% followed by Bahrain with rates in single digits, Ross said.

He said a rise in US consumption of certain products amid the pandemic, such as recreational vehicles and boats, increased the importance of aluminum sheet pricing.

ONGC sees ₹6,000-7,000 cr loss on gas biz

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Oct 9: India's top oil and gas producer ONGC Friday said it is losing ₹6,000-7,000 crore on natural gas business after the government-mandated rates for the fuel dropped to a decade low.

The government-mandated rates are way below the cost of production of $3.5-3.7 per million British thermal unit. Oil and Natural Gas Corp (ONGC) Director (Finance) Subhash Kumar said.

Every dollar reduction in gas price leads to a revenue loss of about ₹5,200 crore and a ₹3,500 crore on profit. "Our losses will be in the order of ₹6,000-7,000 crore in current fiscal," he said.

ONGC has been incurring losses on the 65 million standard cubic meters per day of gas it produces from domestic fields after the government in November 2014 introduced a new gas pricing formula that had "inherent limitations" as it was based on pricing hubs of gas surplus countries such as the US, Canada, and Russia.

The price, according to this formula, is revised twice a year and the rate for the period beginning October 1 has been cut by 25% to $1.79 per mmbtu.

He, however, hoped the government will act on the firm's request and a floor price would be set to check losses.

ONGC Chairman and MD Shashi Shanker said the current gas price does not cover cost and the company has made representations to the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas for suitable amendments to the formula.

POST NEWS NETWORK

'India's already-high inflation likely climbed further in Sept'

Persistent high prices have hurt the recession-stricken economy, which contracted a record 23.9% in April-June despite the RBI cutting its key repo rate

REUTERS

Bangalore, Oct 9: Retail inflation in India likely rose further above the central bank's medium-term target last month as food prices climbed due to lingering supply disruptions, a Reuters poll found, reducing the chances of another interest rate cut. Persistent high prices have hurt the recession-stricken economy, which contracted a record 23.9% in April-June despite the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) cutting its key repo rate by a cumulative 115 basis points since the pandemic started.

Although the government has eased some lockdown restrictions to help the economy, supply chain disruptions have shown little sign of abating as the virus continues to spread rapidly in India.

The October 6-8 Reuters poll of 47 economists suggested consumer prices rose 6.88% last month from a year ago, its highest in five months and faster than August's 6.69% rate.

If realised, inflation would be above the top end of the RBI's medium-term target range of 2%-6% for the sixth consecutive month.

"An acceleration in food inflation and ongoing virus-related supply disruptions have kept headline CPI inflation higher than we had anticipated, but price pressures should ease soon," said Shilpan Shah, senior India economist at Capital Economics.

Above-average rainfall this year, a key determinant of yields in farming, is predicted to help reduce food-price pressures over the coming months. But inflation running above target is expected to keep the RBI on the sidelines for the rest of this year, despite expecta-three new external members to the Monetary Policy Committee Monday after delaying the latest policy-setting meeting, which is scheduled to conclude later Friday.

"We expect the RBI to remain cognizant of the price pressures but maintain their accommodative stance especially as it is food-led. Rate cuts will be delayed but not denied," said Rini Sen, India economist at ANZ.

The poll also forecast that industrial output fell for the sixth month in a row in August, with a 7.5% decline, its longest falling streak since June 2009, as infrastructure output, which accounts for about 40% of total industrial production, contracted 8.5%.

CSK LOCK HORNS WITH RCB

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Abu Dhabi, Oct 9: Kings XI Punjab (KXIP) will have to play out of their skins to get their stuttering campaign back on track when they face fancied Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) in the IPL here Saturday.

Smarting from a 69-run drubbing at the hands of Sunrisers Hyderabad, it will not be an easy task for a struggling KXIP side to stand up to the challenge thrown by an all-round KKR team, which is a fine blend of youth and experience.

Following five losses and a solitary win, KXIP are currently placed at the bottom of the table with two points, whereas the Knight Riders are fourth with six points from three wins.

Notwithstanding a couple of reverses, KKR are gradually emerging as a strong contender for a third IPL title, with many of their players striking form as the tournament approaches the half-way stage.

And then there is Andre Russell, who has not set the tournament in the manner in which he is expected to. The biggest cause of concern for KKR is the form of their captain Dinesh Karthik, who is yet to contribute anything substantial with the bat.

In pace bowling, they have the young duo of Kamesh Nagarkoti and Shivam Mavi, besides the seasoned World No.1 Pat Cummins. While in spin, Narine has Varun Chakravarthy for company. KXIP will again rely on their trusted opening pair of captain KL Rahul and Mayank Agarwal. If Chris Gayle recovers from his food poisoning, he will make his first appearance in the ongoing IPL and that will be a huge boost for KXIP.

The mis-firing Glenn Maxwell is likely to make way for Gayle. Nicholas Pooran's exploits with the bat is a positive for KXIP.

Death bowling is a major concern for KXIP and they would need to get it right against a strong KKR batting line-up.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Dubai, Oct 9: Chennai Super Kings (CSK) will take on

Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB) in an intriguing mid-table IPL clash here Saturday with both teams battling inconsistency.

CSK batsman Kedar Jadhav's selection will be under the scanner after his failure in the defeat to Kolkata Knight Riders. The CSK sank to a 10-run loss Wednesday, choking inexplicably with Jadhav's approach to batting attracting criticism from all quarters.

It remains to be seen if the CSK opt to jettison the 35-year-old given the team's propensity to give players a long rope.

Despite Shane Watson finding his range in a 10-wicket win over Kings XI Punjab and Faf du Plessis' consistency at the top, the middle order continues to remain a concern for CSK with skipper MS Dhoni himself not being at his best.

If they do decide to bench Jadhav after his prolonged struggle, they have the option of recalling Ruturaj Gaikwad or picking N Jagadeesan, who has been warming the bench since the 2018 season.

While worries remain on the batting front, the CSK bowling has got better and they did well to restrict KKR in the previous game with influential all-rounder Dwayne Bravo returning to his wicket-taking ways.

Karn Sharma, who came in for Piyush Chawla did well to pick up a couple of wickets while not going for too many runs and the skipper will expect him to do the same against a formidable RCB batting unit.

Yet, Dhoni would prefer the pacers - Deepak Chahar, Sam Curran and Shardul Thakur - to provide early breakthroughs and stem the run flow. However, the CSK bowling will be up against a strong RCB batting line-up led by captain Virat Kohli, and they will look for an improved performance.

Kohli aside, young Devdutt Padikkal has looked in good touch, while AB de Villiers has been a key player for RCB over the years. If the big-hitting Aaron Finch can provide a rapid start at the top, it would serve RCB better.

It is the bowling which would worry Kohli. Leg-spinner Yuzvendra Chahal has, as always, been the leading bowler while Washington Sundar has been frugal upfront.

VIRU SLAMS CSK

New Delhi: Former India opener Virender Sehwag has taken a dig at Chennai Super Kings' faltering IPL campaign, saying that some of their batsmen think of the franchise as a 'government job' in which remuneration is assured irrespective of performance. Chasing 168, veteran opener Shane Watson struck his second successive fifty to give CSK a perfect start Wednesday, but the team choked at the back end of the innings and was restricted to 157 for five to suffer its fourth defeat in five matches. "It should have been chased down. But the dot balls played by Kedar Jadhav and Ravindra Jadeja didn't help," Sehwag told 'Cricbuzz'. "And, in my view, some of the batsmen think of CSK as a government job, whether you perform or not, they know they'll get their salary anyway," he added.

However, the pacers have not lived up to their reputation, with the likes of Umesh Yadav, Mohammed Siraj and Navdeep Saini leaking runs. Experienced Sri Lankan Isuru Udana's inclusion has given a semblance of control towards the end of the innings.

Delhi outwit Royals

Marcus Stoinis (C) is congratulated by his teammates after dismissing a Royals batsman; Shimron Hetmyer looks on after playing a shot in Sharjah, Friday

AGENCIES

Sharjah, Oct 9: Delhi Capitals (DC) moved to the top of the league standings after scripting a comprehensive 46-run win in their IPL encounter against Rajasthan Royals (RR) here, Friday. DC have now 10 points from six matches, two ahead of second-placed Mumbai Indians, while RR are stranded at seventh position with four points.

Put into bat, DC posted 184/8 in their 20 overs, thanks to Shimron Hetmyer (45, 24b, 1x4, 5x6) and Marcus Stoinis (39, 30b, 4x6). In reply, RR were bowled out for a paltry 138 with two balls to spare. Kagiso

Rabada (3/35) was the pick of the bowlers and he was ably supported by Stoinis (2/17), R Ashwin (2/22), Axar Patel (1/8), Anrich Nortje (1/25) and Harshal Patel (1/29).

Royals failed to set momentum from the very beginning of their chase, losing wickets at regular intervals. Rahul Tewatia (38, 29b, 3x4, 2x6) was the top scorer for them, with only three other players - Yashasvi Jaiswal (34, 36b, 1x4, 2x6), skipper Steve Smith (24) and Jos Buttler (13) - reaching double figures. The highest partnership - 41 runs - was forged between Jaiswal and Smith for the second wicket.

Earlier, an aggressive bowling display coupled with some good fielding saw Royals restrict DC to what looked like a below-par 184/8. This was the lowest first innings total at the ground this season.

Desperate to snap their three-match losing streak, RR opted to field and the bowling unit delivered with Jofra Archer (3/24) taking three wickets and spinner Rahul Tewatia (1/20) and Kartik Tyagi (1/35) capturing one each.

The two run outs of the dangerous Shreyas Iyer (22) and Rishabh Pant (5) also proved crucial. Hetmyer played a wonderful innings to be the top scorer. Stoinis too chipped in. Archer was the pick of the bowlers

KENIN EYES 2ND SLAM OF 2020, SWIATEK 1ST OF CAREER

Young guns blazing on clay

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Paris, Oct 9: A little more than four years ago in Paris, Iga Swiatek beat Sofia Kenin 6-4, 7-5 in the third round of the French Open junior event.

"I remember I lost. I don't remember how I played," Kenin said when asked about the only encounter between the two. "But definitely I can say I was not as comfortable on clay as I am now, as I started to feel last year. ... Of course, we're both different players now."

Certainly are. And the stakes in their second matchup at Roland Garros are considerably different from that 2016 meeting, too: Kenin, a 21-year-old from Florida, and Swiatek, a 19-year-old from Poland, will face each other Saturday in the French Open women's final.

Swiatek (pronounced Shvee-ON-tek) is No.54, making her the lowest-ranked woman to get this far at the tournament since the WTA computer rankings began in 1975. She seeks her first Grand Slam title; in six previous appearances, her best showing was the fourth round.

Kenin, who is seeded No.4, is bidding for her second big trophy of the season, after triumphing at the Australian Open in February, part of a 16-1 mark at the majors in 2020.

Kenin needed to get through three sets to win four of her half-dozen matches in Paris, an indication of some occasional lapses in form, perhaps, but also of her boundless resilience and grit.

Swiatek's progress through the surprise-filled draw over the past two weeks has been as impressive as can be.

If the chill and rain of the autumnal setting - the French Open was postponed from May-June to

September-October because of the coronavirus pandemic - or the lack of loud crowds - only 1,000 fans are allowed on the grounds each day, also on account of COVID-19 concerns - or the dearth of match play - the women's tour returned from a five-month hiatus in August - bothered others, those factors were irrelevant to Swiatek.

Not only hasn't she dropped a set so far - no woman has won the title here without conceding at least one since Justine Henin back in 2007 - but Swiatek allowed her six opponents to combine for just 23 games in 12 sets.

The lopsided results included 6-1, 6-2 victories over both 2018 champion Simona Halep and 2019 runner-up Marketa Vondrousova, and a 6-3, 6-2 win over 2014 Wimbledon finalist Eugenie Bouchard.

She is young enough, remember, that she recently finished high school. Swiatek says she needs to figure out whether to continue to pursue her education or stick to professional tennis.

Rafa juggernaut continues

REUTERS

Paris, Oct 9: Rafa Nadal moved within one win of a record-equalling 20th Grand Slam title by reaching the French Open final with a comfortable 6-3, 6-3, 7-6(7-0) victory over Diego Schwartzman Friday.

Nadal was beaten by the 12th seed a little over two weeks ago on the clay courts in Rome but the 12-time French Open champion showed he was still the undisputed king of Roland Garros as he notched up a 10th win in 11 meetings over the Argentine.

"Two and a half weeks ago, I lost in Rome," Nadal said in an on-court interview. "I'm happy the way I played, how I've improved, today was a very positive win for me."

A victory Sunday for the 34-year-old left-hander, against either World No.1 Novak Djokovic or fifth-seeded Greek Stefanos Tsitsipas, will tie him with Roger Federer's men's singles record of 20 major titles.

The Spaniard reached his 13th French Open final without dropping a set in this year's edition.

Schwartzman, playing his first Grand Slam semifinal, had two breakpoints in the opening game but Nadal saved both to win the game after battling for 14 minutes.

The Spaniard went on to break the Argentine twice in each of the first two sets. The duo traded double service breaks in the third set before Nadal aced the tiebreak without losing a point. Schwartzman found the net with a return to hand Nadal victory in three hours and nine minutes.

"It's a very difficult year, thank you everyone for coming," said Nadal, who hit 38 winners during the contest. "With these conditions it's very difficult, and it's still incredible to be in the final again. Thanks to my team, my family. It's a beautiful moment for me."

Schwartzman had his chances but could convert only three of his 12 breakpoint chances against the Spaniard, who raised his level under pressure.

Messi penalty helps Argentina beat rivals

REUTERS

Buenos Aires, Oct 9: Argentina got their World Cup qualifying campaign off to the perfect start Thursday when Lionel Messi's early penalty gave them a 1-0 win over Ecuador in a lacklustre match here.

The Argentine FA piped fan noise around the empty Bombonera stadium and the chants of 'Messi! Messi!' were vindicated as early as the 12th minute when he put Argentina ahead from the spot after Lucas Ocampos was fouled inside the penalty area.

Argentina had lost just one of their last eight World Cup qualifiers against Ecuador and although they could not add to the scoreline they never looked in danger of losing in a scrappy game against limited opponents.

With the South American qualifiers twice pushed back from the scheduled start in March, it was almost a year since either team had played a full international and Messi said that inaction contributed to the poor spectacle.

The three points, however, were more than welcome for a side that hasn't won a major title since lifting the Copa America in 1993.

The win, which extended Argentina's unbeaten run to eight games under coach Lionel Scaloni, was also positive given that seven of the starting line-up had never played a World Cup qualifier previously.

Argentina's next game is Tuesday against Bolivia in La Paz, while Ecuador return home to face Uruguay, who beat Chile 2-1 in their opener earlier Thursday the same day.

The top four teams in South America's 10-team group qualify automatically for Qatar 2022 and the fifth-placed side goes into an inter-regional playoff.
