When the Covid-19 pandemic threw normal life out of gear in 2020, the state government had decided not to allow the festival fearing that it would further spread the disease. However, as per the Supreme Court's order, it was held without the participation of devotees.

TAURUS

Ganesha sees you getting saddled with worries and anxieties, stress and confusion right from the start of the day. Before getting overwhelmed, try to go to the root of the problems. Earnest reflection will show you past events are the basic cause of whatever you are facing today.

GEMINI

Today, you will be at complete peace with yourself and your surroundings. So, it is rather unlikely that you will give in to provocations and lose your temper. Health of a family member may cause some anxiety, but more or less, you will remain unperturbed by the world.

CANCER

Your peers will be impressed by your professional efficiency today, forecasts Ganesha. You had better postpone auction bids or sealed tenders for some other day. You are likely to do well in interviews, says Ganesha.

LEO

VIRGO

The tempest of anger runs wild. You are most likely to blow hotter than Mount Vesuvius ever did, predicts Ganesha. In the afternoon, you may chalk out a big business plan. Peers will stand by your side at the workplace. But in the evening, try spending your time meditating and cooling those nerves, advises Ganesha.

LIBRA

Think long and hard about all things past, present and future, says Ganesha, since there are chances that you may be in a pensive mood today. Try your best to step out of your brooding frame of mind. You might have to manage balancing your personal and professional life. But, your business will progress as expected.

SCORPIO

Your entrepreneurship today will reflect a lot of your creativity and artistic sense. Romantic diversions will bring you immense pleasure in the afternoon. Have your close friends over in the evening and spend some quality time, says Ganesha.

SAGITTARIUS

The bossy nature of your soul mate is likely to put you off. At work, you may find yourself helpless and left scratching your head. Ganesha advises and foresees you sitting together with your beloved and resolving all your differences.

CAPRICORN

Lovemorn for long, today may be the start of a new chapter, foresees Ganesha. And for those of you already in love, your sweetheart may appear sweeter. No, it's not because they will be overpowered by love. They will probably try to make your day special and have you spend your hard-earned money on a nice outing or an expensive dinner.

AQUARIUS

Today, you will seek direct and frank communication like never before, and it does seem to solve some of your problems. You will remain edgy, and at work, minute things will bother you no end. Later in the day, Ganesha will grant results.

PISCES

A conflict-ridden day awaits you. Avoid openly confronting people today, for petty issues could blow up into major disasters. Legal disputes may also hassle you. Meditative techniques will bring you peace of mind. Delay the start of important activities for a more opportune time, says Ganesha.

Kiara's reply to marriage plans

Mumbai: Anil Kapoor, Varun Dhawan, Kiara Advani, Neetu Kapoor, Karan Johar, Maniesh Paul and director Raj Mehta launched the trailer of their latest film Jug Jugg Jeeyo today in Mumbai. During the interactions with the media, everyone wanted to know about Kiara Advani and Sidharth Malhotra's decision of settling down and getting married.

When one journalist tried to ask Kiara a question about settling down, Karan, who is producing the film, butted in and said, "You didn't ask me about my marriage, I'm going to turn 50. Do you think I can't get married? Let me tell you, I can get married, too."

Everyone in attendance were left in splits at Karan's sense of humour. When the journalist conceded and remarked that Karan was "multi-talented", Karan offered another quirky rebuttal as he said, "Getting married doesn't require talent it's a compulsion." Needless to say the audience burst out into another fit of laughter.

Finally the journo was able to pose a question to Kiara, who confidently said she didn't need the marriage 'tag'. She said, "I can be settled without getting married, too. I am well-settled, working, earning and I am happy."

And Kiara's answer at the Jug Jugg Jeeyo launch could be an indicator that she's not in the frame of mind to settle down any time soon.

'Will add young Odia minds to Yuva Chetna'

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, May 23: Rohit Kumar Singh, the national convener of New Delhi-based NGO 'Yuva Chetna', said during his recent visit to the state Capital that the organisation is committed to eradicate nepotism from Indian politics. Singh also said, "We are striving to uplift our poor, villages, farmers, labourers and our youth. We all must come forward to make India a 'Vishwa Guru'." "Ram Rajya can only be achieved when every last one of our people is connected to the mainstream," he said, adding that democracy and the Constitution can never be put in jeopardy on the land of Gandhi and Ambedkar.

Singh said Yuva Chetana must be reinforced by covering the whole of India. The people of this country need a fresh alternative, he added. "We are the believers of Lord Ram. The youth of India should learn from the life of Lord Ram. While we follow in the footsteps of Ashfaqulla Khan and APJ Abdul Kalam, we also detest tormentors like Aurangzeb. We Indians are indebted to Kalam, and at the same time averse to Aurangzeb," he said. While expressing his ambition of strengthening Yuva Chetana in all the districts of Odisha, the organisation's national convener praised the state's contributions towards national advancements and said, "The people of Odisha have played a significant role in the development of the country. India needs to regulate thriving cosmetic surgery clinics

Due to a sudden rise in demands for services like face-lift, weight loss, hair transplantation, fat-loss therapy and other cosmetic services, the cosmetic clinics are mushrooming in the metro cities. With the change in the trend, not only females, even males are availing such treatments. Resultantly, such clinics are growing in the cities without any strict regulations and guidelines. India was shocked to hear about the death of a young Kannada actress Chethna Raj while undergoing plastic surgery at a private clinic in Bengaluru last week. Her death at such a young age during the surgery has left behind many questions on the medical regulations and ethics. "The Clinical Establishments (Registration and Regulation) Act, 2010 has been enacted by the Central Government to provide for registration and regulation of all clinical establishments in the country with a view to prescribe the minimum standards of facilities and services provided by them," said Manoj Jha, Head of Department, Plastic Surgery, Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital. This act requires all clinical establishments to register themselves and provides a set of standard treatment guidelines for common diseases and conditions. "Despite this Central act, not all states of India have made any clear provisions to implement this act which is the reason for mushrooming of such types of clinics everywhere," said Jha. He said that according to the act, the state governments must adopt the law by passing a resolution in the legislative assemblies. But it has not been implemented in all states yet, he added. He said that according to the act, the state governments must adopt the law by passing a resolution in the legislative assemblies. But it has not been implemented in all states yet, he added. Talking about the guidelines, Jha said that the National Medical

Councils can take action only against those who are registered with the Council but in absence of strict implementation of that act, many clinics are running without any licenses. He said that if such procedures are not being undertaken by the qualified surgeon, there may always be chance for mishaps. Such procedures shouldn't be undertaken by general surgeon ever.

"Liposuction is a safe procedure. In the last 900 consecutive procedures done at RML hospital, no serious complications have been observed," he said. The absence of strict regulation is a driving factor behind the growing number of cosmetic clinics. "The Ministry of Health in consultation with National Medical Council should come up guidelines to stop this illegal practice of cosmetic services across the nation. And, it must be audited at some intervals," said Delhi based Dermatologist & Laser & cutaneous surgeon Deepali Bhardwaj. "Because of good money prospects involved in cosmetic services, even those who are not doctors or dermatologists are running such clinics. Even Liposuction is being undertaken without ICU facilities and people are dying. The incident like that of Kannada actress has become common in the absence of strict regulations," said Bhardwaj. She also said, "Eventually such incidents will adversely impact our medical tourism."

Series mishaps pre-planned: SP

Accused Chittaranjan Mohanty in hospital

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bolangir, May 23: The recent series mishaps near the RTO Square in Bolangir district that killed one person and injured two others critically was pre-planned, said superintendent of police (SP) Nitin Kusalkar while addressing a presser Monday.

Kusalkar said, “The death of a youth in road mishap near RTO Square was a pre-planned murder: We have registered a murder case in this connection.”

The matter came to the fore after the CCTV footage of the accident went viral on social media. The deceased was identified as Srikanth Bagh, 30, the pillion rider, and the injured as Sanu Nayak, a hotel owner who was riding the bike.

The mini truck driver, Chittaranjan Mohanty, the key accused, was also injured in the incident. He is undergoing treatment under police custody in a private hospital near Bhima Bhoi Medical College and Hospital (BBMCH).

Sources said family members of Sanu and Chittaranjan were at loggerheads over acquisition of IDCO and government lands following which the latter hatched a plan to eliminate the former.

On the fateful day, Chittaranjan rammed the mini truck into the motorcycle near the RTO office. The collision left Srikanth dead and Sanu critically injured. Accused Chittaranjan also fractured his leg in the mishap.

Chittaranjan had earlier claimed that he was standing at the RTO Square when the mishap occurred. However, a few locals who witnessed the accident from close quarters smelt something unusual from Chittaranjan's activity.

“Though initially, it appeared like an accident, later it was learnt that it was actually a pre-planned conspiracy to kill Sanu using the vehicle and give it the colour of an accident,” SP added.

Based on a complaint by Sanu's father, Therubali police detained Chittaranjan when he was trying to flee Visakhapatnam. Apart from Chittaranjan, the police have detained two of his associates and interrogating them in the custody. It was alleged that a similar accident was plotted to eliminate Sanu's brother Bhuban too.

The series accidents occurred at RTO Office Square on National Highway-26 at 11:26am Saturday. The mini truck (OR-03A-5390) from Titlagarh end came rushing at a great speed, rammed the bike, hit a roadside tree and then a cow and finally a truck.

The prestigious award will be conferred on Das and Kar by President Ram Nath Kovind at a function, the date and time of which are yet to be decided. The respective health departments have been informed about Das's and Kar's selection for the award.

“I am very happy for being selected for the highest nursing honour in the country. It will encourage others to serve people more,” Das said.

“I thank my co-workers and family for always being by my side. Without their support, this would not have been possible,” Kar said.

Das, who hails from Lochapada on the outskirts of Berhampur town, has around 25 years of experience as a nurse. She joined MKCG Medical College and Hospital as a nursing officer in 2007. Before that, she had worked in a private hospital in West Bengal from 1997 to 2007.

CHHATRAPUR: Bishnuprasad Dakua, an Odia worker stuck in Qatar, has reportedly resorted to begging in the Gulf country. BJD's Pranab, Sanjay booked

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nabarangpur, May 23: Acting on a complaint by a BJP leader, Nabarangpur police has registered a case against BJD's organisational secretary Pranab Prakash Das and State Planning Board deputy chairperson Sanjay Das Burma for allegedly misbehaving with a few SC/ST people during the inauguration of a Krushak Sookhana Kendra (farmers' information kiosk).

While the incident occurred in February 2021, the case was registered Monday after the complainant and BJP leader Gauri Shankar Majhi had moved the court alleging humiliation by the two senior BJD leaders and non-registration of an FIR despite seeking intervention of Nabarangpur superintendent of police (SP).

Following orders from Nabarangpur Sessions Judge, Nabarangpur police registered the case under Indian Penal Code (IPC) Sections 143, 323, 354, 149 and Section 3(1) (R) of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act.

As per the allegation, several farmers along with BJP and Congress activists were staging a demonstration in February 2021 over several issues when Das Burma and Das had visited Nabarangpur for inaugurating the kiosk.

Infuriated over the demonstration, the two senior BJD leaders allegedly misbehaved and manhandled the activists including Majhi.

“We along with several farmers had gone to meet Das Burma seeking an answer over non-lifting of 90,000 quintals of paddy. Instead of hearing our grievances, he along with Pranab Prakash Das misbehaved with us. Though we had lodged a complaint, no FIR was registered,” said Majhi.

Majhi further said that no action was taken despite approaching the SP. “The FIR was registered against the two leaders only after the court's intervention. We hope that justice will be delivered,” he added.

The BJD is, however, yet to issue any statement regarding the issue.

Nandan Kanan: Sec 307

The brutal attack on some visitors at Nandan Kanan zoo of Bhubaneswar 22 May 2022 is a wake-up call for the State Government that has been trying to build Orissa as a destination of great value. Much effort and money has gone in to build the ‘Best Kept Secret’ brand at the national level. A traveler from Orissa reaching Delhi’s IGI airport would feel happy to see the slogan of our state flashing on multiple digital screens. The advertisement blitz has been proven to be a success as footfalls have increased. Yet, tourism is not limited merely to advertising destinations, adding hotel rooms, offering air-conditioned bus rides or creating niche tent accommodations on beaches. While all this may be considered integral parts of the tourism industry, the most important ingredient is a tourist’s interface with the local people. Without hospitable and welcoming locals no tourist destination can thrive for long. Creating temporary eco-rooms for tourists who will be secluded during their whole stay can never be a sustainable method. From Goa to Indonesia and onwards to many Pacific islands, tourism thrives because of friendly locals and a sense of security.

The incident at Nandan Kanan is deplorable to say the least. According to reports, a group of tourists from Chhattisgarh who had booked tickets for safari rides at the zoo were brutally attacked when they protested against the inordinate delay in permitting them to board the safari bus. Reportedly, the group was made to wait for long hours in the heat which led to an altercation with the officials at the ticket counter. Instead of tactfully handling the situation, the zoo officials called in about 50 locals who brutally assaulted and beat up the tourists. This speaks volumes about the average Oriya character. It seems, as if, Oriyas as a race cannot handle a situation as individuals and always need mob backup. This may be the reason why Oriyas outside the state seem insecure and avoid trying to identify as Oriyas except in groups.

The Nandan Kanan incident should be treated with extreme seriousness by the state police. The forest department should first investigate why tourists were not taken in the safari bus in sequential order. Second, the police must investigate and locate every single attacker and hold an identification parade immediately. The hapless tourists should be moved to a safe accommodation and given police protection to identify the criminals and give testimonies in a magistrate’s court so that they are not compelled to keep coming back to Bhubaneswar to avoid threats and coercion. Third, all those located and identified should be prosecuted under non-bailable assault sections including Section 307 (Attempt to Murder). Government should ensure strict follow up in court so that the accused are duly punished. Enough evidence exists on social media as well as CCTV cameras of Nandan Kanan. Inaction or delay in action will encourage this kind of mob creation and unruly behavior and gravely damage the reputation of the state. Strong action will be a deterrent for future recurrences. Otherwise, Orissa might, once again, slip back into the shadows of ‘being the ‘Best Kept Secret’.

Oz Change of Guard

The swearing in of Australia’s new Prime Minister Anthony Albanese 23 May represents a watershed moment in Australian politics. He not only becomes the first Labor PM in the past decade, but the election outcome this time around has shown how climate change and its disastrous impact on the planet in general and Australia in particular has played a crucial role in deciding the fortunes of political parties and climate activists in the country. It is a significant coincidence that the new PM had to dash off to Tokyo moments after the swearing-in ceremony to participate in a summit meeting of the Quad group comprising Australia, the US, Japan and India. The four-nation grouping has been formed to act as a counterbalance against China’s growing influence in the Indo-Pacific region. Albanese has been accused by his opponent and immediate predecessor Scott Morrison with being soft on China. He has, however, refuted the accusation and blamed “wrong handling” of the situation by the Morrison government for the strained relationship between Australia and China.

Albanese’s emergence as the new Australian PM has come as music to French ears. This is because France was left high and dry by the Morrison government which abandoned a submarine deal between the two countries in favour of a security pact known as the AUKUS formed by Australia, the US and the UK. The arrangement offers a great challenge to China’s might. In fact, the outgoing French foreign affairs minister, Jean-Yves Le Drian, did not conceal his glee when he said the “defeat of Morrison suits me very well.” Morrison’s handling of the deal, according to him, showed “brutality and cynicism, and I would even be tempted to say unequivocal incompetence.” In fact, Albanese himself had accused Morrison of leaking to the media personal text messages from Emmanuel Macron to discredit the French President’s complaint that Australia had given no warning that a French submarine contract would be cancelled. In November last year, French Ambassador to Australia Jean-Pierre Thebaud described the leak as a “new low” and a warning to other world leaders that their private communications with the Australian government could be weaponised and used against them.

Even though Albanese has made it clear that the country’s foreign policy of his Labor government would continue as that of the previous government, he has all the same expressed his misgivings about Morrison’s China policy. He has described a new security pact between China and the Solomon Islands as Australia’s worst foreign policy failure in the Pacific since World War II. Significantly, the Prime Minister of Solomon Islands, Manasseh Sogavare, wrote a letter to Albanese offering his “sincere congratulations” on his victory. His prompt response shows he wants to mend his country’s relations with Australia especially because the security deal with China was a major election issue. Sogavare assured Albanese “that Solomon Islands remains Australia’s steadfast friend and development partner of choice.” In a statement, Sogavare expressed hope for “taking Solomon Islands’ relationship with Australia to another level under Albanese’s tenure as the prime minister of Australia.”

The most dramatic turn in this election is the Australian voters’ overwhelming support for immediate action on climate change and strong disapproval of the previous government’s half-hearted action in this regard. Australians are among the people in the world reeling most under the impact of climate change. In the past three years, record-breaking bushfires and flood events have killed more than 500 people and billions of animals. Droughts, cyclones and freak tides have devastated communities. The twin issues of climate change and the cost of living have converged in this election like never before. Australia is facing an “insurability crisis” with one in 25 homes on track to be effectively uninsurable by 2030, according to a Climate Council report. This means that the insurance for the highest-risk homes will be so prohibitively expensive that the insurance companies will refuse to accept any policy. Climate change is playing out in real time and many Australians now find it impossible to insure their homes and businesses. Nowhere is this a bigger issue than in Queensland. It is home to almost 40 per cent of the 500,000 homes projected to be effectively uninsurable. Queensland has been ravaged by floods in recent months. In February, the state capital Brisbane had more than 70 per cent of its average yearly rainfall in just three days. Insurers say the floods will become Australia’s most expensive natural event ever.

No wonder Australian voters decided to cast their votes in favour of climate activists contesting in the election and the Green Party. They have voted against ruling coalition candidates and decided to give a chance to the Labor party to effectively control climate change with their target to limit carbon emission by 43 per cent by 2030 against the ruling coalition’s promise of 26 per cent. Australia may provide a lesson to the rest of the world in the fight against climate change, if the new government can live up to its promise.

FOCUS POLICE ENCOUNTERS

MUD IN OUR EYES

The nation should be shell shocked by the report of an eminent panel set up by the Supreme Court to investigate the death of four accused in the brutal rape and murder case of veterinary doctor (identified only as Ms. Disha) in Hyderabad in 2019. The panel, comprising Justice VS Sirpurkar (retired judge of the Supreme Court), Justice Rekha P SondurBaldota (former judge of the Bombay High Court) and Dr DR Kaarthikeyan (former CBI director), begin their recommendations in the case of the “encounter” killings with the following words: “Just as mob lynching is unacceptable, so is any idea of instant justice. At any point of time, rule of law must prevail. Punishment for crime has to be only by the procedure established by law.”

Their 387-page report is so thorough, meticulous and in graphic detail that it amounts to a conviction of the police and the State machinery for what clearly and beyond any shadow of doubt was a staged encounter in which four accused, three of them juveniles, were killed. Accused Jollu Shiva, Jollu Naveen and Chintakunta Chennakeshavulu were aged 17, 15 and 15 respectively, their ages conclusively proved as recorded in school registers. The fact that at least two of these three were juveniles was clearly known to the police. The fourth accused killed in the “encounter”, Mohammed Arif, was 26.

All the four were from poor families – truck drivers and cleaners who were picked up, it appears, not by police but by the owner of the truck that was seen in video footage as the investigation commenced. The report should also be shocking to all of India because it gives a graphic account of how the police functions, almost like rookies who have no clue about anything remotely linked to any formal investigation, let alone investigating a shocking case that led to a nationwide public outcry.

If 75 years after Independence, this is how police operations work

The so-called encounter quietened public anger but it did not do justice to anyone, not even the victim, because the case was not investigated fully and the real culprits probably were never at risk of being caught in some of the most important cases, then questions need to be asked on the state of the nation itself. Further, the case comes not from what was once the backyards of Bhagalpur but in a thriving state capital that wants to become the techno-cyber capital of the nation and attracts investments like Amazon’s largest campus anywhere in the world. These modernistic investments and infrastructure sit ill at ease with governance structures that live on from pre-historic times. They mock the state, they bring ridicule to its elaborate and carefully constructed norms of due process, and they lower the standing of a nation that seeks to be a global power.

The report should further shock the entire cadre of the Indian Police Service officers, who are considered the top echelons of the police bureaucracy but have rarely if ever spoken about the growing menace of staged encounters, the shoddiness of investigations and the lack of anything remotely professional in the functioning of the Indian police. Each and every IPS officer in the nation would hang his or her head in shame on reading this report.

Now in the dock and almost impossible to escape are the local police and the State machinery that not only allowed and probably sanctioned at the highest level such a crime but also did not complete a full and proper investigation of a case that had shocked Telangana and the nation. In that sense, the so-called encounter quietened public anger but it did not do justice to anyone, not even the victim, because the case was not investigated fully and the real culprits probably were never at risk of being caught. The encounter that killed four accused also killed all leads; it killed investigation and it murdered the process by which justice is delivered.

The report by the eminent panel records some of the most ludicrous claims put up by the police – that when taken to the spot for recovery of material evidence, the accused threw mud into the eyes of the police escorts, that they snatched a revolver and fired at the police. One para from the long report illustrates the bankruptcy of the official narrative: “On account of the fact that the allegation of throwing of dust and earth is introduced belatedly and considering the improbabilities in the version, it is to be held that this allegation is an embellishment and introduced only to give a plausible explanation that the accused could escape from the custody of such a large contingent of armed police party. When any such mischievous attempt is initiated by one of the accused, the entire police party would get alerted and would thwart all such attempts. Such helplessness could not have been expected even from a layman...”

The report illustrates how State-sanctioned killings and the subsequent cover-ups are done – at one level ham-handed but also unfettered by any fear of a follow-up. The teams put to this task are so brutalised and confident that there will be no accountability that they care not about a cover for their killings. Linked to this of course is the political class – all parties at all levels – that want quick fixes for potential political trouble on law & order issues and to keep the economy ticking. The nexus of the political-business class stands out clearly, standing as a force called progress and prosperity against the weak and the downtrodden who have little hope of justice from such a system. This is an India-wide divide and it makes the nation weaker even though the numbers on the economic dashboard may look stronger.

The Supreme Court has done yeoman service by setting up the panel, which has served the nation by its detailed findings. The report should lead to immediate local area arrests of the guilty policemen but it must also trigger a re-think on the problem of police encounters. All political parties must recognise this as a dangerous decline in standards. IPS officers must speak up. We also need new administrative protocols – sending on compulsory leave top officers in the immediate chain, leading to the IPS officer in charge, as the case is investigated by a judicial panel, will end the sorry case of police encounters right away. Until then, silly stories like the accused threw mud in the eyes of the police will continue to throw mud in the eyes of the nation.

Right to feed

Sir, The Supreme Court’s recent vacation of the stay on a Delhi High Court order from last year that said that stray dogs have a right to food and water, and citizens have the right to feed them is really welcoming. The feeding and caring for stray dogs is a hugely divisive issue in urban neighbourhoods across India, with arguments and disputes breaking out frequently between dog lovers and those who feel scared or intimidated by the animals. Each side accuses the other of being insensitive and inconsiderate. The decision paves the way for community dogs to be fed either at private driveways/porches or spots designated. Stray dogs have the right to food and citizens have the right to feed community canines, earlier the Delhi High Court had said while observing that in exercising this right, care and caution should be taken to ensure that it does not impinge upon others and causes no harassment or nuisance. The high court, while laying down guidelines regarding the feeding of stray dogs, had said every dog is a territorial being and it has to be fed and tended to at places within its territory that are not frequented by the general public. Any person having compassion for stray dogs can feed them at their private entrance or driveway of their house or any other place not shared with other residents, but no one can restrict the other from feeding dogs, until and unless it is causing harm or harassment to them, it had said.

Clever & cawing

Sir, Birds of a certain kind occupy all portions of the earth inhabited by mankind. This shows that man is never without his bird associates. Although there are more than 10,000 bird species worldwide, only a handful of them are extremely talented and incredibly intelligent. And, when it comes to smartness, crows should probably be at the top of the list. Crows are actually very friendly types of birds. Known for their intelligence and adaptability, they are distinguished by their throaty and raucous sound ‘caw.’ The largely common black crows imitate sounds quite professionally. In fact, they usually communicate with different sounds which vary according to situations. Crows are extremely shrewd with a powerful memory to the extent that they can even recognise individual human faces. Said Henry Ward Beecher, the renowned American social reformer and speaker: “If men had wings and bore black feathers, few of them would be clever enough to be crows.”

Nitish calls all party meet on caste census

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Patna, May 23: Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar has called an all party meeting to discuss caste-based census May 27.

"We have sent the proposal to all the parties for the meeting on May 27. However, some of the parties have not replied to the call of the state government so far. We are waiting for their response," Nitish Kumar said.

"We want to discuss each and every issue related to caste-based census. The leaders of different political parties will give their suggestions which will be a great help," he said. Nitish Kumar's statement came 10 days after Leader of the Opposition Tejashwi Yadav met him over the issue.

Earlier, Jitan Ram Manjhi claimed that he has received a call from the CMO office for the meeting on May 27. With this statement of Nitish Kumar, it is clear that caste-based census is likely to take place in Bihar soon and its expenses will be borne by the Bihar government.

In Bihar, parties like the JD-U, the RJD, the Congress, the Left parties and the AIMIM are in favour of the caste census. The BJP, however, has raised objections. Sources said that the BJP is not likely to attend the all party meet called by the Chief Minister.

GYANVAPI CASE

Whose petition first, court to decide today

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Varanasi, May 23: A district court here reserved its order for Tuesday on which petition is to be heard first in the Gyanvapi-Shringar Gauri complex case transferred to it by the Supreme Court.

The court of District Judge A K Vishvesh heard arguments from both the Hindu and Muslim sides. A fresh plea seeking permission to worship the "Shivling" claimed to have been found on the Gyanvapi mosque premises during a videography survey ordered by a lower court was also filed.

The apex court had Friday transferred the Gyanvapi-Shringar Gauri complex case from a civil judge (senior division) to a district judge, saying looking at the "complexities" and "sensitivity" of the issue, it is better if a senior judicial officer having an experience of over 25-30 years handles this case.

"After hearing arguments of both sides, the court will on Tuesday give its verdict on which petition is to be heard first," said Madan Mohan Yadav, a lawyer for the Hindu side.

The Hindu side argued that since a court-appointed commission has completed its work, the opponents should present their objections to it. Yadav said they pleaded to make available the commission's report and videography done by it to present its side on it.

Anjuman Intezamia Masjid Committee's lawyer Mohammad Tauhid Khan argued that the writ is not sustainable, hence, it should be dismissed. A fresh petition was also moved on Monday by Dr Kulpati Tiwari, Mahant of Kashi Vishwanath temple, for regular "pujan" (worship) of the Shivling, which he said was found in the Gyanvapi mosque complex.

May 16, the lower court had directed the district administration to seal a spot in the Gyanvapi Masjid complex after counsels representing the Hindu petitioners said a Shivling was found Monday during a court-mandated videography survey.

A mosque management committee spokesperson disputed the claim, telling a television channel that the object was part of a "fountain". He said lawyers representing the mosque committee were not fully heard before the sealing order was announced. The Hindu side claimed that the Shivling was found close to the "wazookhana"--a small reservoir used by Muslim devotees to perform ritual ablutions before offering the namaz.

SIDHU SEEKS SPECIAL DIET

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Chandigarh, May 23: Congress leader Navjot Singh Sidhu, lodged in Patiala central prison to serve a one-year jail term in a 1988 road rage death case, was taken to Rajindra Hospital in Patiala under heavy security on Monday morning for medical examination, official sources said.

The cricketer-turned-politician's counsel HPS Verma said Sidhu has sought a special diet in jail. He said a board of doctors will carry out a detailed medical examination of Sidhu at the hospital. "The board of doctors will see what special diet is required and then it will submit its report in a local court (in Patiala)," Verma said over the phone.

According to the counsel, Sidhu cannot consume wheat, sugar, 'maida' and some other food items. "He can have berries, papaya, guava, double-toned milk and food items which do not have fibre and carbohydrates," Verma said. After the board of doctors carry out a medical examination, a report will be submitted in the court of chief judicial magistrate, he said.

The 58-year-old Congress leader suffers from medical conditions like embolism and has a liver ailment. In 2015, Sidhu also underwent treatment for acute deep vein thrombosis (DVT) at a hospital in Delhi. DVT is caused by a blood clot in a deep vein which hinders the normal blood flow.

Several Congress supporters reached Rajindra Hospital after Sidhu was brought there. The former Punjab Congress chief on May 20 was sent to Patiala central jail after he surrendered before a local court. He has been sentenced to one-year rigorous imprisonment by the Supreme Court in a 1988 road rage death case.

Stronger the judge, greater the allegations: SC

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, May 23: The Supreme Court Monday said that making allegations against judges is "unfortunately" becoming a new fashion now and the stronger the judge, the greater the allegations against him.

The apex court, while hearing an appeal filed by an advocate who was found guilty of contempt by the Madras High Court and was sentenced to undergo two weeks of simple imprisonment, observed that making allegations against judges is rampant in Uttar Pradesh and now it is happening in Bombay and Madras also.

The top court said the conduct of the appellant was "thoroughly contemptuous" and besides levelling wanton allegations against the single judge of the high court who had issued a non-bailable warrant (NBW) against him, the recusal of one of the judges hearing the proceedings thereafter was sought on thoroughly improper grounds.

"Now, this is becoming unfortunately a new fashion of making allegations against judges. The stronger the judge, the greater the allegations against the judge. This is happening now in Bombay. Of course, it is rampant in Uttar Pradesh, now Madras," a vacation bench of Justices D Y Chandrachud and Bela M Trivedi said.

"Let a strong message go," said the bench, adding that judges are assaulted across the country and in the district judiciary, sometimes not even a 'lathi' (stick) wielding policeman is there for their protection.

While refusing to interfere with the high court's March order this year, which had also directed that the advocate shall not practice before it for a period of one year, the apex court observed that one can annoy the court but cannot level wanton allegation like this when the process of the court is sought to be served.

The bench said after the single judge had issued an NBW against the advocate and the police went to serve him when he was there at a tea shop near the high court, hundreds of lawyers lay upon the police and prevent the NBW from being served.

It said CCTV footage of the incident was also there and to compound it further when the matter was heard by the court, the advocate had made allegations against the single judge who had issued NBW against him.

The counsel appearing for the appellant said the advocate has tendered an unconditional apology. The bench observed that the appellant belongs to a class of lawyers who are "absolutely incorrigible" and there is a blot on the legal profession. It said this is the only way to deal with these kinds of people and a two-week sentence is actually very lenient.

The appellant's counsel said that in the appeal, they have not raised any ground but tendered unconditional apology and the conduct of the appellant may be monitored by the high court.

"Let him exercise some remorse. There will be some remorse when he goes to jail for two weeks and when he is barred for a year from practicing," the bench said.

The appellant's counsel urged the bench to give him one opportunity and he has tendered an apology also. "The behaviour and conduct of the appellant was thoroughly contemptuous. There was a clear attempt to obstruct the process of justice when the NBW was sought to be served on him by the competent police officials," the bench said.

"That apart, wanton allegations have been levelled against the single judge of the Madras High Court who issued the NBW and a recusal was sought even of one of the judges hearing the proceedings thereafter on thoroughly improper grounds," it said, adding the finding on contempt as well as the sentence, cannot be regarded as disproportionate.

Oppn decries bulldozer ‘revenge’

The ruling BJP defends administration’s actions, blaming ‘Jihadis’ for the burning down of Batadrava police station

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Guwahati, May 23: Opposition parties in Assam Monday decried both the bulldozing of houses of villagers allegedly involved in burning down a police station in an apparent revenge attack after custodial death of a person in Nagoan district as well as the assault on the force’s outpost.

The ruling BJP, however, defended the administration’s actions, blaming ‘Jihadis’ for the burning down of Batadrava Police Station.

The police station was set on fire Saturday by a mob, following the custodial death of a local person, Safikul Islam, who was picked up the night earlier.

The district administration had carried out an eviction drive in Islam’s Salnabori village the next day and bulldozed houses of the deceased and several of his relatives, alleging that they were ‘encroachers’ and staying there with “forged land documents.”

The state Congress has deputed a seven-member committee, led by its working president Rana Goswami, to visit Batadrava and take stock of the situation there. The panel, which includes Batadrava MLA Sibamoni Bora, will interact with local people to find out the root causes of the incidents and submit its report within two days.

“It is shocking to know that many houses of local people are demolished by bulldozers,” the party said in a statement.

Taking to Twitter, Congress MP Abdul Khaleque said his party never supports any attack on a police station but bulldozing houses of suspected attackers by police is a “direct violation of human rights.” The Trinamool Congress state president Ripun Bora said the incident of arson at the police station is “a matter of concern” as it reflects people are “losing” faith in the rule of law.

“It shows people are losing their trust in the law, and the torching of a police station is a threat to the law and order. The custodial death also indicates an utter disregard for the legal mechanism,” he said.

The former MP from the state also maintained that the “distance between public and police has widened” since the Himanta Biswa Sarma-led government came to power last year.

Terming the incident of arson at the police station following the custodial death as ‘anarchism’, Assam Jatiya Parishad chief Lurinjoyti Gogoi said, “These cannot be accepted. When the respect for law diminishes, such things happen. When the chief minister openly supports encounters, these are bound to follow.”

On the subsequent eviction drive, he claimed that it reflected the “vindictive nature of the government.”

“Whenever this government doesn’t like someone or something, they get the police to take action against them...it (eviction) was a step of vengeance,” he said.

Terming the attack on the police station as “an organised terrorist act,” the ruling BJP claimed that ‘trained jihadis’ were involved in the arson. The saffron camp also welcomed the eviction drive.

BJP’s senior spokespersons Ranjiv Kumar Sarma and Subhas Dutta have claimed that “Bangladesh-based Muslim miscreants received training in PFI camps to carry out an organised attack on the Batadrava police station.”

They urged the police to “construe the attackers as perpetrators of crime against the nation” and resort to stringent action against them. The ruling party welcomed the decision of carrying out the eviction exercise against illegal encroachers following the incident.

Damage to rail lines, assets being assessed with drones

In the floods and landslides caused by pre-monsoon rain, 24 people have been killed, and around 8.40 lakh people affected

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Guwahati, May 23: Specialists from North Eastern Space Applications Centre (NESAC), a subsidiary of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), are using drones and satellite data for conducting rapid damage assessment of railway tracks, stations, and other assets of the Northeast Frontier Railway (NFR) in Assam’s Dima Hasao mountainous district, officials said Monday.

Due to unprecedented landslides triggered by heavy rain since May 13, massive damage has been caused to stations and railway tracks at over 58 locations in NFR’s Lumding-Badarpur single line railway route via Dima Hasao. This railway line connects Tripura, Mizoram, Manipur and the southern parts of Assam with the rest of the country.

Officials of the Assam State

Disaster Management Authority said that a team of specialists from Umiam (Meghalaya)-based NESAC is doing rapid damage assessment in Dima Hasao using drones and satellite data to plan post-disaster activities and restoration of the damaged lines. ISRO’s NESAC was set up in September 2000 as a joint initiative of the Central government’s Department of Space (DOS) and the North Eastern Council.

In many places, due to heavy rain, the soil from the railway tracks got washed away and huge landslides covered the tracks and other railway assets. According to NFR’s Chief Public Relations Officer, Sabyasachi De, in the hill section under Lumding Division, all trains have been cancelled till June or until the restoration of the railway lines.

The official said that railway engineers and workers are working on a war footing to restore the rail links. The NFR’s Lumding-Badarpur single line railway route via Dima Hasao is vital for ferrying goods, fuel, and passengers to and from Tripura, Mizoram, Manipur and southern Assam’s three districts.

Now, plea for ‘purification’ of Mathura’s Shahi Idgah

Several suits have been filed so far in the matter with a common prayer of shifting of Shahi Masjid Idgah, which has been claimed to have been constructed on the temple premises

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mathura (UP), May 23: A petitioner in the Shri Krishna Janmasthan-Shahi Idgah Masjid dispute has sought permission from a local court to perform a Hindu ritual inside the mosque, claiming that the sanctum sanctorum of the temple was located there.

The petitioner submitted an application in the court of the Civil Judge Monday seeking permission for “purification” of the sanctum sanctorum of the Keshav Dev temple, which he claimed was inside the mosque, his counsel said.

“The petitioner, Dinesh Chandra Sharma, wants to revive the sanctity of sanctum sanctorum inside Shahi Masjid Idgah by purifying the divine place with holy water of Ganga and Yamuna,” Deepak Sharma, the counsel for petitioner said.

Dinesh Chandra Sharma, the National Treasurer of Akhil Bharat Hindu Mahasabha, May 19 had submitted a similar application in the court of Civil Judge senior di-

Through the application, Sharma had sought the permission for performing ‘abhishek’ (anointment) of Laddu Gopal in the Katra Keshav Dev temple claiming it to be inside the mosque, he said.

Both his applications are pending in the court here for disposal, the counsel said.

According to him, his client has submitted these applications seeking early disposal of the suit.

Sharma had filed a suit February

26, 2021 in the court of Civil Judge Senior Division Mathura seeking shifting of Shahi Masjid Idgah constructed on a part of the 13.37 acre land of Katra Keshav Dev temple.

UP Sunni Central Waqf board, Intezamia committee Shahi Masjid Idgah, Sri Krishna Janmasthan Seva Sansthan, and Sri Krishna Janmabhumi trust, are the defendants in the lawsuit.

Several suits have been filed so far in the matter with a common prayer of shifting of Shahi Masjid Idgah, which has been claimed to have been constructed on the temple premises.

In a few of the suits, a plea has also been made for sending an advocate commissioner or an ASI team to ascertain the presence of signs of Hindu temples inside the mosque.

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Agra, May 23: Though Taj Mahal is in the news for several reasons, what needs our immediate attention is the air and water pollution that is hurting the world heritage monument that is India’s pride and a star tourist attraction.

Despite thousands of crores spent on fighting pollution following the Supreme Court’s intervention in the 1990s, neither the air pollution level has come down nor has water of the river Yamuna become safe.

Even three decades after the Supreme Court intervention and the continued war against environmental pollution, to secure precious world heritage monuments in the Taj Trapezium Zone, (TTZ) conditions have not significantly improved. Rather, the accelerated urbanisation process has further compounded the crisis.

In fact with the green cover continuously decreasing and water bodies either dry or heavily polluted, the overall scenario is depressing, pointing to the utter failure of the government bodies to handle the alarming ecological crisis building up.

The apex court ordered in 1993 a slew of measures while considering the high powered experts committee, headed by senior scientist Dr S Varadrajan’s report in the MC Mehta PIL on pollution threats to the Taj Mahal. Over the years thousands of crores of rupees have been spent without discernible changes to the overall environmental scenario in the 10,400 sq km eco-sensitive Taj Trapezium Zone.

TAJ CITY CRISIS

Agra fares poorly in the air quality index. The ambient air quality has gone worse from being poor, as Agra continued to be among the top polluted cities in India

The dust level (SPM and RSPM) has gone up and the share of noxious gases in the ambient air has remained high posing a grave threat to humans and monuments

Although the city claims serious participation in the Smart city race, the results do not instill confidence or indicate any positive shift in the eco-equilibrium

All parameters suggest Agra is nowhere close to winning the pollution war, despite international concern and claimed governmental efforts to halt the increasing pollution level

Neither the pollution standards applicable in eco-sensitive zones have been achieved nor has the city made any progress in extending the green cover. The forest area has in fact come down to a meager six per cent or less, against the national target of 33 per cent. The suspended particulate matter (SPM) level remains over 350 micrograms per cubic metre, while going above 600 in summer, against the 100 microgram standard. This summer has been truly cruel to both nature and stones, says green activist Devashish Bhattacharya.

The level of noxious gases has continued to rise as a result of automobile explosion. “In the early 1980s when Firozabad was part of Agra district, the number of registered vehicles was only 40,000. But now the number has crossed a million in Agra district alone. Add Firozabad, Mathura and neighbouring Hathras districts, the scenario is frightening,” Bhattacharya adds.

He wondered why despite continuous monitoring by the apex court and the NGT, there has not been any significant change in the environmental scenario in the TTZ.

One major source of dust and pollution is the dry and polluted river Yamuna. “Yamuna is virtually dead in Agra. The dry river-bed and the highly polluted water that flows down the river pose serious threats to historical monuments along the banks. Decades of judicial activism, major policy pronouncements and projects worth millions of rupees, this Taj city remains pock-marked with mounds of garbage. Air and water pollution threaten the health of people and the world-famous monuments that are visited by millions of tourists every year,” say members of the River Connect Campaign.

The SPM rises as the river bed runs dry and the Rajasthan desert gradually expands into Uttar Pradesh. In recent years, there has also been large-scale illegal stone mining in the Aravali ranges, pushing up the particulate matter in the air.

Assam’s lone hill station strives to reclaim lost glory

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Haflong (Assam), May 23: Landslides and flood have left a trail of destruction in Dima Hasao, a picturesque tourist hotspot in Assam, prompting a multi-agency effort to salvage the state’s only hill station Haflong and its surrounding townships in the district, officials said.

Officials, however, are uncertain when Dima Hasao will regain its lost sheen, considering the enormity of the devastation.

While snapped road links are likely to be restored within the next few weeks, train movement connecting Dima Hasao, Barak Valley, Tripura, Mizoram and Manipur with the rest of the country is expected to resume from July, they said.

The road network to Dima Hasao was also cut off, as streets filled with mud, stones and slash became a common sight. Though some stretches have been partially reopened and tunnels cleaned up, a senior official of the Assam State Disaster Management Authority (ASDMA) said complete restoration will take more than a week.

Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma had Sunday met NHA Chairperson Alka Upadhyaya and discussed the road condition in Dima Hasao.

Another big challenge is to reinstate mobile services in the afected areas, the restoration work of which is also underway, the officials said.

Dering Thaosen, Advisor of the Blue Hills Society, a local NGO, said that Dima Hasao, once infamous for dreaded insurgency, had just begun its journey of development, but the natural disaster has “now pushed the district 50 years back”.

“The new broad gauge connectivity and the highways, popularly called ‘Mahasarak’, had brought some hope for Dima Hasao in terms of tourism and revenue. Businesses had just started to gain momentum and many outsiders were interested to invest.

“But, the heavy rain and land-slides have again brought dark days for us and now the district has been pushed back 50 years,” he said.

Asked about the possible causes of the ravages due to landslides, which is not new to Dima Hasao, Thaosen said: “One of the biggest reasons for this scale of destruction was haphazard construction work for the broad gauge and highways, which resulted in damage to the environment.”

“The economy of the district collapsed due to the shutdown of road and rail communication. It has vast opportunities in the tourism sector and the government should give emphasis on proper drainage systems, as most of the landslides happened due to improper drainage,” said Samal Nandi, a Haflong-based businessman.

Aslam Khan, a retired Inspector of Schools, whose grandfather was a contractor in the construction of metre gauge railway in Dima Hasao, said all construction work should be done as per scientific norms.

Lucknow, May 23: It is called Bhartiya Kisan Union (Apolitical), but if reports are to be believed, there is a lot of politics in this ‘apolitical’ outfit.

The breakaway outfit of the BKU, led by Rajesh Chauhan, has alleged that the outfit under the Tikait brothers was getting ‘increasingly political’ and the members, including senior leaders, did not appreciate this.

BKU president Nareish Tikait claims that the split in the outfit was engineered by the BJP government and said that the parting of ‘some’ leaders will not impact the organization or its activities. Fissures within the Bhartiya Kisan Union (BKU) had come out, ironically, on the death anniversary of its founder president Mahendra Singh Tikait May 15, when the formation of a separate outfit was announced.

BKU vice-president Rajesh Chauhan said he took the decision after being ‘insulted’ and alleged that the outfit sided with political parties in the elections - an apparent reference to UP assembly polls.

The new outfit was named the Bhartiya Kisan Union (Arajnaitik). “Arajnaitik” means apolitical in Hindi.

Nareish Tikait alleged that the new organisation was formed at the behest of the BJP government. “The organisation is an outfit of the government. The BJP wanted to damage the movement after the year-long farmers’ agitation. The agitations by the BKU are run by people as a group and individuals do not matter,” he said.

The split in the BKU, however, has put a question mark on the farmers’ posture towards the government and it remains to be seen whether the Tikait brothers will command the same pull that they did during the year-long agitation.

The Tikait brothers have been almost synonymous with farmers’ issues and this is the first time that their leadership has been challenged.

More employees of J&K govt are on radar of security forces

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, May 23: More government employees are on the radar of the security agencies for terror links in Jammu and Kashmir and it is expected that the government will sack them soon, the sources in the security network Monday said.

The sources further said that the people who are on the radar of the agencies are teaching and non-teaching staff of the Kashmir University while some of them are working in the J&K government.

The government has asked the intelligence agencies to prepare a list of those employees of university, school and government offices who are sympathizers of terror outfits or spreading the separatism among the students and the local people.

The intelligence agencies in J&K have prepared three categories of such government employees and teachers who are involved in spreading the ideology of the terror organisations. Among the University teachers, it was learnt that 15 professors or lecturers are on the radar of the security forces and three of them need immediate action while 15 are on the watch list, the sources said.

Those who are under the first category will be sacked immediately after a Committee's recommendation which has been constituted under Article 311(2)(C) of the Constitution while those kept under second category are on the watch of the security agencies and the third category, the misguided government employees will be taken for counselling to get them back in the mainstream, they added.

The officials in the security grid in J&K said that the majority of university teachers are against terrorism and have no anti-India sentiments. Recently, the J&K government had dismissed one professor Altaf Hussain Pandit of the Kashmir University and a school teacher Mohammad Maqbul Hajam for encouraging and involvement in anti-India activities.

In line with its long-term vision for the region, Biden on Monday launched the ambitious Indo-Pacific Economic Framework for Prosperity (IPEF), which is an initiative aimed at deeper cooperation among like-minded countries in areas such as clean energy, supply-chain resilience and digital trade.

The rollout of the IPEF is expected to send across a signal that the US is focused on pushing forward a strong economic policy for the region to counter China's aggressive strategy on trade in the region.

Attending the event to launch the IPEF, Modi said that announcement of IPEF is a declaration of a collective desire to make the Indo-Pacific region an engine of global economic growth. The prime minister also called for finding common and creative solutions to tackle economic challenges of the Indo-Pacific region.

US National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan on Sunday said the IPEF is designed to create "high-standard approaches" to the digital economy, to the clean energy transition, diverse and resilient supply chains and open and transparent economic governance.

Foreign Secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra last week said continuing cooperation on COVID-19 response, post-pandemic management of the economy and health infrastructure is also important elements for the Quad summit.

"These include last-mile delivery, health security, genomic surveillance, clinical trials, and pandemic preparedness as their important elements," he said. Australia's newly-appointed Prime Minister Anthony Albanese will also participate in the summit and it will be interesting to know about his vision for the Indo-Pacific. The Quad leaders are also set to discuss the Russian military offensive in Ukraine and the humanitarian as well as security implications of the conflict.

Battery defects caused EV fires, says DRDO

The preliminary findings from the government-constituted probe committee on EV fires have already identified issues with battery cells or design in nearly all of the electric two-wheeler fire incidents in the country

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, May 23: The Defence Research & Development Organisation (DRDO) that was tasked with investigating into EV fire incidents by the Union Road Transport and Highways Ministry, has found serious defects in the batteries, including designs of the battery packs and modules.

According to sources in the know of the matter, these defects occur because the electric two-wheeler manufacturers like Okinawa Autotech, Pure EV, Jitendra Electric Vehicles, Ola Electric and Boom Motors may have used "lower-grade materials to cut costs". The Centre for Fire, Explosive and Environment Safety (CFEES) at the DRDO has submitted its fact-finding report to the Ministry, as first reported by Business Standard.

According to the sources, the ministry has now summoned representatives of these EV manufacturers, asking them to submit an explanation on the DRDO report findings. Earlier this month, the Central Consumer Protection Authority (CCPA), which comes under the Union Consumer Affairs Ministry, sent notices to Pure EV and Boom Motors after their e-scooters exploded in April. The consumer watchdog is also examining more cases of e-scooter fires and will serve similar notices to other EV makers too.

Pure EV and Boom Motors along with Ola Electric, Jitendra EV and Okinawa Autotech, recalled faulty batches after the EV fire incidents were reported.

The preliminary findings from the government-constituted probe committee on EV fires have already identified issues with battery cells or design in nearly all of the electric two-wheeler fire incidents in the country. The committee was constituted in the wake of EV fires and battery blasts in e-scooters. The experts found defects in battery cells as well as battery design in nearly all EV fires.

The government is now working on new quality-centric guidelines for EVs that will be unveiled soon. At least 12 electric two-wheelers have exploded till now and several EV makers have recalled the faulty batches amid the growing pressure from the government.

Attributed to Franklin Roosevelt, the longest serving President of the United States, almost 77 years later; it still rings true even for a rookie politician like Hardik Patel who resigned as working president of the Gujarat Congress last week.

His departure from the Congress was the worst kept secret in the state. For weeks he had been talking to his party through the media and the party top brass had been alerted to his opening lines of communication with the BJP leadership which led to his being cold shouldered during Rahul Gandhi's visit to the state. He himself boasted of being in touch with the 'top most' in the BJP who wield decisive say in Gujarat. That he should announce his resignation addressed to the Congress president through Twitter in three languages - Hindi, English and Gujarati and then attack the Congress and Rahul Gandhi personally, proved a dead give-away of the direction he was headed.

The Congress has been the obstacle delaying the resolution of key national issues like the Citizenship Amendment Act, the Ram temple construction at Ayodhya or the scrapping of Article 370 which provided special status to Jammu and Kashmir, his letter said.

Interestingly in March 2019 the day Hardik joined the Congress, he had quite the opposite to say. "In view of the Pulwama terror attack, the Congress had decided to postpone its rally but Prime Minister Narendra Modi continued addressing gatherings across the country." For Rahul Gandhi he said, "I chose him because he is honest and does not believe in working like a dictator." Now, however it is the chicken sandwiches that seemed to have taken precedence!

The fact was that Hardik was very keen to contest the 2019 Lok Sabha elections from Jamnagar. The damper to his aspirations came when just weeks ahead of the 2019 polls, the Gujarat High Court rejected his plea seeking stay on the two years imprisonment awarded to him in 2018 for rioting and arson in Visnagar in 2015 during Patidar quota stir. This was because the BJP government played spoilsport. During the hearings, the Gujarat government had strongly opposed his plea saying that Hardik has criminal antecedents with 17 FIRs registered against him including two cases of sedition. The court noted that looking at the criminal background no relief can be granted.

April 12, this year the Supreme Court stayed the conviction of Hardik in the case pending decision on the appeal as Solicitor General Tushar Mehta did not press home on behalf of the state. Is it a mere coincidence that a day after getting relief from the apex court Hardik openly criticised his own party and praised the BJP for doing good work. He also made it clear that he would contest the ensuing elections.

If Hardik was stepping up the criticism of his own party, the thaw in the BJP government's approach to him was clearly visible leaving hardened political analysts in no doubt of the 'understanding' between them. The very government which had labelled him as one with 'criminal antecedents' approached the Ahmedabad metropolitan magistrate April 25 seeking to withdraw another case of rioting and trespass against him. The court, however, rejected the plea. The government then approached the sessions court which permitted withdrawal of the case May 10.

As things stand, Hardik hardly had any grouse against his own party leadership until the time the elections neared. In the last elections he had a say in 20 seats but in 15 of them the Congress lost so no say this time.

The fact is that he has been a pale shadow of the aggressive youth leader who headed the Patidar Anamat Andolan Samiti having lost steam. With reports of his heading towards the BJP making the rounds, he is being heavily trolled in the social media by the community as being responsible for the death of 14 Patidar youths who lost their lives during the agitation. This has forced him to beat a hasty retreat putting out a statement that he is yet to make up his mind on his next move.

Russian soldier gets life term at war crimes trial

AGENCIES

Kyiv, May 23: A Ukrainian court sentenced a 21-year-old Russian soldier to life in prison Monday for killing a Ukrainian civilian, sealing the first guilty conviction for war crimes since Moscow's invasion three months ago.

Sgt. Vadim Shishimarin pleaded guilty to shooting a Ukrainian civilian in the head in a village in the northeastern Sumy region in the early days of the war.

He testified that he shot the man after being ordered to do so. He told the court that an officer insisted that the Ukrainian man, who was speaking on his cellphone, could pinpoint their location to the Ukrainian forces.

The sentencing came as the 3-month-old war helped push the number of people displaced worldwide to the highest level on record level, according to the United Nations, with more than 100 million people driven from their homes across the globe. Meanwhile, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy addressed the World Economic Forum as it opened in Davos, Switzerland, calling for "maximum" sanctions against Russia. He said by video that sanctions needed to go further to stop Russia's aggression, including an oil embargo, all of its banks blocked and cutting off trade with Russia completely. Pak may reduce working days

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Islamabad, May 23: The cash-strapped Pakistan government is examining the possibility of conserving fuel by reducing the number of working days, a move by which it is hoping to save an estimated $2.7 billion in foreign exchange, a media report said Monday. The estimates are based on three different scenarios in terms of working days and fuel conservation prepared by the State Bank of Pakistan for foreign exchange savings of $1.5 billion to $2.7 billion, the Dawn newspaper reported.

Pakistan's total oil imports for the first 10 months (July-April) of the current fiscal year (FY22) has surged beyond $17 billion, displaying a massive 96 per cent growth compared to the same period in the last fiscal year, the report said.

Red alert in Europe over monkeypox outbreak

AGENCIES

London, May 23: European countries will be told to prepare a vaccination plan to tackle the spiralling monkeypox outbreak, as Denmark became the latest country to be struck down.

EU authorities are set to publish a risk assessment, which will advise all member states to draw up an inoculation strategy to control the spread of the tropical virus, Daily Mail reported.

The strategy likely to be recommended is the same already deployed in Britain. Officials were attempting to contain the spread by vaccinating all close contacts of the 20 confirmed monkeypox cases, including NHS workers.

The strategy, called ring vaccination, involves jabbing and monitoring anyone around an infected person to form a buffer of immune people to limit the disease's spread. It comes as experts warn nations could bring in travel restrictions to control the spread of the illness, if the World Health Organisation (WHO) declares the outbreak an emergency.

But the vaccine, called Imvanex and made by Denmark-based drug-maker Bavarian Nordic, has not been authorised for use against monkeypox in Europe or the UK, Daily Mail reported.

The European Medicines Agency approved the jab for use against smallpox in 2013, while the US Food and Drug Administration greenlit the injection for both infections in 2019. And there is no data available on how safe it is for immunocompromised people or youngsters the groups at highest risk from the outbreak. It comes as WHO bosses had been informed of 92 confirmed cases by Saturday and 28 suspected infections, most of which have been detected in Europe.

But the true toll will be many times higher, with top scientists warning community transmission means some of the spread is inevitably going undetected, Daily Mail reported. A disproportionate number of cases are in gay and bisexual men.

Fresh global threat

Geneva: Even as the world is not over the pandemic yet, it is facing a significant and formidable challenge of the monkeypox outbreak that has so far infected over 100 people in about 15 countries, the World Health Organisation (WHO) said. Addressing the UN's World Health Assembly in Geneva on Sunday, WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said the world is not over the pandemic, which has claimed six million lives, with almost 15 million excess mortality. However, in addition is the new monkeypox virus and several other disease outbreaks such as acute hepatitis in children and Ebola, as well as wars in Ukraine and Yemen.

Do claims against Musk raise a legal issue for Twitter deal?

REUTERS

New York, May 23: A report saying Tesla Inc CEO Elon Musk's company SpaceX paid $250,000 to settle sexual harassment claims by a flight attendant on a private jet comes as he eyes a takeover of Twitter.

Below is an overview of some of the key legal questions arising from the claims, which were published Thursday by Business Insider. Musk has denied the allegations.

WHAT ARE THE CLAIMS AGAINST MUSK?

Business Insider reported Thursday that SpaceX paid $250,000 in 2018 to settle claims by an unnamed private jet flight attendant who accused Musk of exposing himself to her. The article quoted an anonymous person who said she was a friend of the flight attendant. The friend had provided a statement as part of a private settlement process, according to the article.

In Twitter posts Thursday, Musk called the allegations "utterly untrue" and said the alleged exposure "never happened."

HAS MUSK FACED ANY PAST SEXUAL HARASSMENT COMPLAINTS OR LAWSUITS?

No. There are no other public harassment allegations against Musk.

ARE MUSK'S COMPANIES FACING SEXUAL HARASSMENT OR OTHER EMPLOYMENT LAWSUITS?

Tesla has faced accusations of race and sex discrimination, including a race bias class action lawsuit in California state court and a lawsuit by California's Department of Fair Housing and Employment, which alleges widespread race discrimination.

At least seven women have filed sexual harassment and discrimination lawsuits against Tesla since late last year. These lawsuits are at an early stage.

Tesla has broadly denied wrongdoing and said it has adopted policies to prevent and punish workplace misconduct.

Tesla is hardly unique in facing such legal challenges; most US companies with large workforces face some employment-related claims and lawsuits.

SpaceX is not facing lawsuits over sexual harassment, despite several accusations that female employees have made in the media and online. In December, for instance, a former SpaceX engineer wrote in a blog post that the company was "rife with sexism" and that her complaints of sexual harassment had been ignored.

SpaceX has said it rigorously investigates harassment and discrimination complaints and takes appropriate action when a company policy is violated.

IS MUSK A DEFENDANT IN THE LAWSUITS AGAINST THE COMPANIES?

No. Musk is not a defendant in any of the lawsuits. But, in several pending race discrimination and sexual harassment cases employees have accused him and other senior company leaders of being dismissive about misconduct and of allowing hostile workplace conditions to fester.

WHERE DO THE LAWSUITS STAND AND HOW HAVE THE COMPANIES RESPONDED TO THEM?

A federal judge in April awarded $15 million to a Black Tesla factory worker who claimed he was subjected to racial slurs and racist graffiti by coworkers at a Fremont, California, factory. Tesla has sought to pause the California agency's lawsuit, claiming it failed to conduct a proper investigation before suing.

A California judge is expected to rule soon on Tesla's motion to send one of the sexual harassment lawsuits against Tesla to arbitration. The judge is presiding over five similar cases, so his ruling could also affect those lawsuits.

Boards have a duty to ensure that companies comply with the law, including laws that prohibit sex discrimination. While board members aren't expected to know about every single allegation of rule-breaking, "they'd be expected to have procedures to know claims of lawbreaking directly against the CEO," said Ann Lipton of Tulane Law School.

WIDER FISCAL GAP RISKS

Inflation fight to hurt growth

After retail and wholesale inflation hit multi-year highs in April, the government cut taxes on petrol and diesel, taking a revenue hit of ₹1 trillion, and will take a hit of another ₹2 trillion if the situation worsens

REUTERS

New Delhi, May 23: India's export duty hikes and tax cuts will likely hurt economic growth and raise the chances of the fiscal deficit widening, but do little to bring down retail prices within the central bank's tolerance level, economists and industry officials said.

Over the past month, India's fiscal and monetary policy have U-turned from being growth-focused to honing in on inflation - with the central bank raising the key interest rate by 40 basis points, and the government cutting taxes on fuel and disincentivising exports.

"The measures announced mark a tacit admission by the government that both fiscal and monetary policies are set to be deployed to bring

Still, despite government intervention, India may end up with retail inflation at least 100 basis points above its 6% tolerance level, as key food prices are likely to be on the rise, economists at banks like HSBC and Nomura said.

The moves could hurt growth and the fiscal deficit could widen by 40-50 basis points, they said, despite the central bank governor saying India was likely to achieve its fiscal deficit target at 6.4% of GDP.

India imposed an export tax of 15% on 11 steel products and raised taxes on iron ore exports, effectively slowing exports of such products, months after pushing companies to boost capital expenditure and exports.

"This will discourage capital expenditure in this country. People started to invest in capex, and it was not designed to service the domestic market," VR Sharma, managing director of Jindal Steel & Power, told Reuters.

Sharma said the move drives the industry away from boosting exports and helping the government achieve its $1 trillion export target by 2030, from $669.65 billion in 2021/22.

Q4 GDP may have slowed to 3.5%: Icra

Mumbai: The economic growth may have slowed to 3.5 per cent in fourth quarter of 2021-22 from 5.4 per cent in the previous three-month period due to the impact of higher commodity prices on margins, decline in wheat yields and on higher base, Icra Ratings said Monday. The agency said the hiccups in the recovery of the contact-intensive services attributable to the third wave of Covid-19 in the country may have also affected the economic growth in the quarter. Even the gross value added (GVA) at basic prices (at constant 2011-12 prices) in Q4 FY2022 seems to have eased to 2.7 per cent from 4.7 per cent in Q3 FY2022, it said. Icra's Chief Economist Aditi Nayar said Q4 was a challenging quarter, with the Omicron-fuelled third wave of Covid-19 arresting the momentum in contact-intensive services, and a pervasive pressure on margins from higher commodity prices. Moreover, the heatwave adversely affected wheat output in March 2022.

PETROL UNDER-RECOVERY AT ₹13.08/LITRE, DIESEL ₹24.09/LITRE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Mar 23: RBML - the joint venture of Reliance Industries Ltd (RIL) and BP Mobility Ltd - has told the government that fuel retailing for the private sector in India has become unsustainable after market-controlling public sector firms frequently froze petrol and diesel prices at rates way below the cost, sources said.

"They have written to the petroleum ministry over the fuel pricing issue," a highly placed source in the government, who didn't want to be quoted, told reporters here. While RBML is scaling down its retail operations to cut some of the ₹700 crore loss it is incurring every month, Russia's Rosneft-backed Nayara Energy has raised prices of petrol and diesel by up to ₹3 a litre over and above the PSU rates, to cover for some losses.

The government over the weekend cut excise duty on petrol by ₹8 per litre and by ₹6 a litre on diesel. This reduction was passed on to the consumers and not adjusted against the under-recovery or losses oil firms make on selling petrol and diesel.

Two sources aware of the matter said RBML contends that PSU oil marketing companies control over 90 per cent of the market and are the price-setters, leaving no

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, May 23: RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das Monday hinted at another interest rate hike in early June to bring down stubbornly high inflation rate which has remained above the tolerance level for the past four months.

"Expectation of rate hike, it's a no-brainer. There will be some hike but how much I will not be able to tell now... To say that 5.15 (per cent) may not be very accurate," Das said in an interview with CNBC-TV18. The next meeting of the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) is scheduled for June 6-8.

RBI, in its first rate move in two years and its first hike in nearly four years, raised the repo rate by 40 basis points to 4.40 per cent following an off-cycle meeting earlier this month.

The government has mandated MPC headed by the RBI Governor to keep the retail inflation between 2 to 6 per cent. As per the latest print, the Consumer Price Index (CPI) inflation increased to 7.79 per cent against 6.95 per cent in the previous month and 4.21 per cent in April 2021.

"Interest rates in almost every country today are negative, except Russia and Brazil. The target for inflation for advanced economies is about 2 per cent. Except for Japan and one more country, all advanced economies have inflation of over 7 per cent," he said.

"We will move towards positive real rates, but it is impossible to forecast how soon because of the evolving situation," said the governor.

US mulls $4bn extra support for India

REUTERS

New Delhi, May 23: The United States is considering "investment support" of $4 billion for India on top of billions of dollars extended earlier, New Delhi said Monday after the two sides signed an agreement to keep such money flowing.

The US International Development Finance Corporation (DFC) or its predecessor agencies have so far provided India with $5.8 billion, of which $2.9 billion is outstanding, for Covid-19 vaccine manufacturing, healthcare, renewable energy, financial inclusion and infrastructure.

"Proposals worth $4 billion are under consideration by DFC for providing investment support in India," India's Ministry of Finance said as officials from the two countries met in Tokyo where their leaders will hold a summit Tuesday. The ministry said the latest agreement "would lead to enhanced investment support provided by DFC in India."

Monday, US President Joe Biden and Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi were among government heads from 13 countries who jointly launched a partnership called the Indo-Pacific Economic Framework for Prosperity.

Markets pare gains to end flat in risky trade

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, May 23: Equity indices frittered away a good start to close with modest losses Monday, pressured by heavy selling in metal stocks after the government imposed export duties on steel-making raw materials to curb soaring prices.

The 30-share BSE Sensex opened strong and gained momentum as the session progressed, but came under severe selling pressure in afternoon trade to close 37.78 points or 0.07 per cent lower at 54,288.61. On similar lines, the broader NSE Nifty slipped 51.45 points or 0.32 per cent to end at 16,214.70.

Metal stocks took a knock after the government Saturday hiked the tax on export of iron ores and concentrates to 50 per cent, and imposed a duty of 45 per cent on iron pellets in a bid to increase their domestic availability and curb soaring steel prices.

Tata Steel was the biggest loser in the Sensex pack, plummeting 12.53 per cent, followed by UltraTech Cement, ITC, PowerGrid, HDFC, HDFC Bank, HCL Tech and India took the lead in the ninth minute through Karthi Selvam before Abdul Rana broke their neighbours' heart by equalising in the 59th from a penalty corner. India will next play Japan Tuesday.

Pakistan had the first scoring chance in the third minute in the form of a penalty corner, but they failed to stop the ball properly as India survived.

Seconds later, it was India's turn to secure a penalty corner but Neelam Sanjip Xess' effort was saved by the Pakistan goalie Akmal Hussain.

The Indians continued to put pressure on the Pakistan defence and secured two more penalty corners in the first quarter, the second of which was converted by Karthi, who scored his first international goal after his flick went inside the Pakistan citadel after getting a deflection off the stick of defender Muhammad Abdullah. In between Pakistan also got another penalty corner but the effort went wide.

Soon after the start of the second quarter, Pakistan goalkeeper Hussain made a fine reflex save to deny Pawan Rajbhar from point blank range. The Indians dominated the ball possession and secured another penalty corner in the 21st minute which went abegging.

Pakistan made a bright start after the change of ends and threatened the Indian defence early on.

India had a flurry of chances but Pakistan goalkeeper Hussain was there to save his side. The Indians kept up the pressure and secured a few more penalty corners in the third quarter but could convert none. Credit should also go to Pakistan keeper Hussain, who stood like a rock in front of the goal.

A lapse in concentration cost India dearly as a long ball caught, an otherwise alert Indian defence, off guard in the final two minutes, resulting in a penalty corner for Pakistan. Rana pushed in from a rebound after Mubashar Ali's flick was saved at the goal line by Yashdeep Siwach.

Meanwhile in the other matches of the day, Malaysia beat Oman 7-0 and Korea defeated Bangladesh 6-1 in Pool B, while Japan thrashed hosts Indonesia 9-0 in Pool A.

Vastrakar spell lifts Supernovas

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Pune, May 23: Pooja Vastrakar (4/12) gave a brilliant pace-bowling display as Supernovas notched up an easy 49-run win over Trailblazers in a record-breaking opening match of the Women's T20 Challenge here Monday.

The 22-year-old Vastrakar claimed the wickets of Trailblazers' captain Smriti Mandhana (34, 23b, 4x4), her opening partner Hayley Matthews (18), No.4 Sophia Dunkley (1) and Salma Khatun (0) in two separate spells to tear apart the batting line-up of the defending champions.

England left-arm spinner Sophie Ecclestone (2/19) and Australia all-rounder Alana King (2/30) chipped in with two wickets apiece as Trailblazers could only score 114/9 in 20 overs while chasing 164. The Supernovas had earlier scored the tournament's highest-ever score of 163 all out after opting to bat.

Trailblazers made a strong start to their chase with Mandhana and Matthews putting on 39 runs for the opening wicket in five overs. But Vastrakar struck triple blows on Trailblazers to leave the defending champions in deep trouble.

Runs were hard to come by for Trailblazers as they reached 71/4 at the halfway mark. But two wickets in the 11th over bowled by Ecclestone virtually ended the contest.

Earlier, Supernovas captain Harmanpreet Kaur top-scored with 37 (29b, 4x4) while Harleen Deol and Deandra Dottin chipped in with 35 (19b, 5x4) and 32 (17b, 5x4, 1x6) respectively.

They, however, lost five wickets in the last two overs for just eight runs, including that of Kaur, in a dramatic collapse. Matthews was the pick of the Trailblazers bowlers with figures of 3/29 while Salma Khatun finished with the figure of 2/30.

BRIEF SCORES: Supernovas 163 (Harmanpreet Kaur 37, Harleen Deol 35, Deandra Dottin 32; Hayley Matthews 3/29, Salma Khatun 2/30) beat Trailblazers 114/9 (Smriti Mandhana 34; Pooja Vastrakar 4/12, Sophie Ecclestone 2/19, Alana King 2/30) by 49 runs.

PRAGGNANANDHAA SAILS INTO LAST 8 IN CHESSABLE MASTERS

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Chennai, May 23: Young Indian Grandmaster R Praggnanandhaa defeated compatriot and GM Vidit Gujrathi to book a spot in the quarterfinals of the Meltwater Champions Chess Tour Chessable Masters 2022 online tournament.

The win in the 15th and final round of the preliminaries late Sunday saw the teenaged GM knock Gujrathi out of contention. The 16-year old Praggnanandhaa will take on Wei Yi of China in the quarterfinals.

Praggnanandhaa, who created a stir by beating world No.1 Magnus Carlsen of Norway earlier in the sixth round, scored 25 points to finish fourth behind Anish Giri (the Netherlands, 29 points), Carlsen (28 points) and Ding Liren (China, 25 points).

The two other Indian players, P

Harikrishna and Gujrathi in the 16-player field, finished outside the top 8 and failed to make the cut for the knockout bracket. While the experienced Harikrishna took the ninth place with 18 points, Gujrathi (17 points) ended up 11th.

Praggnanandhaa scored an impressive win over American Abhimanyu Mishra, the world's youngest Grandmaster, in 41 moves before settling for a draw against another US player Sam Shankland in round 13 and 14 respectively. In the game against Gujrathi, the teenaged GM capitalised on an error on the 35th move to force a win.

Fast-improving Dutch GM Jorden Van Foreest and Eric Hansen were among Praggnanandhaa's other scalps in the preliminary rounds. He finished with eight wins, four defeats and three draws.

AC Milan end Serie A title drought

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milan, May 23: The city of Milan was swarming with a sea of celebrating red-and-black fans as AC Milan secured its first Serie A title in 11 years Sunday with a 3-0 win at Sassuolo. Thousands of supporters in the team's colors had started gathering in Milan's Piazza del Duomo, in front of the iconic cathedral, even before the Rossoneri clinched its 19th scudetto.

And it was the man who thrives in the big occasions who helped Milan do it, as veteran forward Olivier Giroud scored twice to set his side on the way to the win. Rafael Leao set up all three first-half goals. The 22-year-old Leao was presented with the Serie A player of the season award after the match.

The result meant Milan finished two points ahead of defending champion — and city rival — Inter Milan, which won 3-0 at home to Sampdoria.

The festivities were mirrored at Sassuolo, where there was a joyous pitch invasion at the final whistle, delaying the trophy ceremony. Zlatan Ibrahimovic walked out puffing on a cigar. "This is the most satisfying of my titles," said

Ibrahimovi , who also helped Milan to the last of its Serie A titles in his first spell at the club. "I still remember when I came back I promised to take Milan back to the top and to win the scudetto. Many didn't believe and laughed. Instead I am here as a champion now."

Motera, not Eden, is my home: Saha

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kolkata, May 23: The hurt and disillusionment was palpable as a disgruntled India wicketkeeper-batter Wriddhiman Saha Monday called the Motera Stadium his new "home ground", having played all his life at the iconic Eden Garden.

It would not have been easy for the Gujarat Titans glovesman to return to the venue, where he made a dream Ranji debut with a hundred in 2007, but won't play for the state after a run-in with the establishment.

"Here, I'm representing Gujarat so my home ground is Motera Stadium, I believe in that. Since I'm no longer with KKR, the Eden is not my home," Saha said in a virtual media interaction ahead of their IPL Qualifier One clash against Rajasthan Royals.

While he called Motera his home ground, ironically, not a single match of the ongoing IPL has been played in Ahmedabad till now.

Asked whether he would be seen playing for Bengal at the Eden again, the 37-year-old said: "I'm not able to answer the second part of your question. I might have played a lot of games here in the past but I'm here to play an away game," Saha said.

Saha was at loggerheads with the establishment of CAB after they named him for the Ranji Trophy quarter final against Jharkhand without his consent. Saha was annoyed that CAB assistant secretary Debabrata Das questioned his commitment after he pulled out of Ranji league stage.
